Social Geographies Gill Valentine, 2014-06-06 Most social geography undergraduate textbooks are structured around different social categories splintering the discussion of gender class race and increasingly now sexuality and disability into separate chapters This has the effect firstly of making social relations rather than space the raison d'être of human geography the focus of undergraduate books secondly of ignoring the way that social relations are negotiated and contested in different space Rather than reproducing this conventional social geography format the aim of this proposed text is to make space the focus of analysis In doing so the intention is to make complex theoretical debates about space more accessible to students and encourage them to look at their own environments in new ways Social Geographies Gill Valentine, 2001 century resort area and introduces us to some of the people who worked played and lived in the resort Through photographs interviews and newspaper clippings he presents a lively history of this resort area and its surprising role in the evolution of local courtship and dating practices from the commoditization of the courting experience by the Canadian Pacific Railway s Moonlight Specials through the development of an elaborate amusement area that encouraged public dating and to its eventual demise amid the moral panic over sexual behaviour during the 1950s and 60s      Revolutionary Bodies K. S. Batmanghelichi, 2020-12-10 Gender and sexuality in modern Iran is frequently examined through the prism of nationalist symbols and religious discourse from the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries In this book Kristin Soraya Batmanghelichi takes a different approach by interrogating how normative ideas of women s bodies in state religious and public health discourses have resulted in the female body being deemed as immodest and taboo Through a diverse blend of sources a popular cultural women s journal a red light district cases studies of temporary marriages iconic public statues and an HIV AIDS advocacy organization in Tehran this work argues that conceptions of gender and sexuality have been mediated in public discourse and experienced and modified by women themselves over the past thirty years of the Islamic Republic Expanding upon existing philosophical theory technological research and scholarship on gender and sexuality in Iran this book focuses much needed attention on under studied marginalized communities such as widows living with HIV This work interrogates how bodily technologies are constructed discursively and socially in Iran and the values and perspectives which are incorporated in them
