Conceptualising Comparative Politics Anthony Petros Spanakos, Francisco Panizza, 2015-07-16 Comparative politics often involves testing of hypotheses using new methodological approaches without giving sufficient attention to the concepts which are fundamental to hypotheses, particularly the ability of these concepts to travel. Proper operationalising requires deep reflection on the concept, not simply establishing how it should be measured. Conceptualising Comparative Politics, the flagship book of Routledge's series of the same name, breaks new ground by emphasising the role of thoroughly thinking through concepts and deep familiarity with the cases that inform the conceptual reflection. In this thought-provoking book, established academics as well as emerging scholars in the field collect and invite scholarship in the tradition of conceptual comparative politics. The book posits that concepts may be used comparatively as lenses, building blocks, and scripts, and contributors show how these conceptual tools can be employed in original comparative research. Importantly, contributors to Conceptualising Comparative Politics do not simply use concepts in one of these three ways but they apply them with careful consideration of empirical variation. The chapters included in this volume address some of the most contentious issues in comparative politics: populism, state capacity, governance, institutions, elections, secularism, among others, from various geographic regions and model how scholars doing comparative politics might approach such subjects. Concepts make possible scholarly conversations, including creative confrontations across paradigms. Conceptualising Comparative Politics will challenge you to think of how to engage in conceptual comparative inquiry and how to use various methodologically sound techniques to understand and explain comparative politics.

Turn Down the Heat A Report for the World Bank by the Potsdam Institute for Climate Impact Research and Analytics., 2013-06-19 This report focuses on the risks of climate change to development in Sub-Saharan Africa, South East Asia, and South Asia. Building on the 2012 report Turn Down the Heat: Why a 4°C Warmer World Must Be Avoided, this new scientific analysis examines the likely impacts of present-day 2°C and 4°C warming on agricultural production, water resources and coastal vulnerability It finds many significant climate and development impacts are already being felt in some regions and that as warming increases from present day 0.8 C to 2 C and 4 C multiple threats of increasing extreme heat waves sea level rise more severe storms droughts and floods are expected to have further severe negative implications for the poorest and most vulnerable The report finds that agricultural yields will be affected across the three regions with repercussions for food security economic growth and poverty reduction In addition urban areas have been identified as new clusters of vulnerability with urban dwellers particularly the urban poor facing significant vulnerability to climate change In Sub Saharan Africa under 3 C global warming savannas are projected to decrease from their current levels to approximately one seventh of total land area and threaten pastoral livelihoods Under 4 C warming total hyper arid and arid areas are projected to expand by 10 percent In South East Asia under 2 C warming heat extremes that are virtually absent today would cover nearly 60-70 percent of total land area in northern hemisphere summer adversely impacting ecosystems Under 4 C warming rural populations would face mounting pressures from sea level rise increased tropical cyclone intensity storm surges saltwater intrusions and loss of marine ecosystem services In South Asia the potential sudden onset of disturbances to the monsoon system and rising peak temperatures would put water and food resources at severe risk Well before 2 C warming occurs substantial reductions in the frequency of low snow years is projected to cause substantial reductions in dry season flow threatening agriculture Many of the worst climate impacts could still be avoided by holding warming below 2 C but the window for action is closing rapidly Urgent action is also needed to build resilience to a rapidly warming world that will pose significant risks to agriculture water resources coastal infrastructure and human health
