Culturally Diverse Populations: Reflections from Pioneers in Education and Research Diane De Anda, 2013-10-18

The purpose of this book is to open a discourse on current and pertinent issues related to multicultural populations by the most noted experts and researchers in the field. This book offers an overview of the literature on multicultural issues and assesses its approach to the following issues: the stereotypic assumptions with regard to filial piety and Asian American populations; substance abuse within the Latino community; multicultural youth and elders; refugee and immigrant populations; as well as vulnerable populations such as victims of political and sexual exploitation. The aim is to provide a forum for educators in the field to present views regarding important issues for which there is no other venue. They are important for educators, practitioners and students in the field to consider and discuss. These will serve as springboards for such discussion. Although references will be cited when appropriate, these will be position papers rather than research papers or reviews of the literature. This book was based on a special issue of the Journal of Ethnic and Cultural Diversity in Social Work.

Multicultural and International Approaches in Social Work Practice Kui-Hee Song, 2016-09-26 Building upon the author's integrative and interactive ideas about human services fields, this book presents an intercultural perspective of social work education, practice and research with culturally, linguistically, relationally underprivileged minority groups in the local and global communities to show how the synthesis of theories from postmodern social constructionism, multiculturalism and international organization empowerment can be applied when working with Asian immigrant families. This book also demonstrates how a mutual development model of intercultural organizational collaborative partnership can be relevant when providing an International Experience for Human Services Abroad Course. Author Kui Hee Song uses in-depth case studies in the culturally, linguistic and diverse context of human services fields and in the cross-nationally interactive context of host country human services organizations and home university academic administrations. Kui Hee Song examines the clinical change process of a Korean immigrant family that is working with Child Protective Services seeking to resolve physical child abuse problems and generate new meanings in parent-child relationships through therapeutic conversational dialogue. As the new to this edition, a case of Ming's story is especially the cultural differences between the Chinese immigrant client family and American medical setting where practitioner's personal beliefs were challenged. Kui Hee Song critically examines specific steps to take in establishing intercultural service learning field placements for an experiential learning education abroad course. Song explores the significant leadership roles and responsibilities of host country human services organizations and home university administrators involved with making a new international human services experience abroad program planning, implementation and evaluation. Specially, Song provides a profound understanding of the empowerment process of a Korean family, a conversational partnership in dialogue that invites the clients to speak their loud, hitherto unheard voices and enhance a personal perception of competency for action and hope. Song also gives a thoughtful comprehension of a mutual empowerment process of cross-national collaborative partners' differential responsibilities but mutually shared power vision and goals in working relationship that allows for each collaborator to stand together in unity of transactional and transformational leadership behaviors and strengthens the sustainability of the effective international human services experience abroad program

Critical Multicultural Practice in Social Work
Charlotte Williams, 2020-07-16 Critical multicultural practice rather than being a specialism is integral to Australian social work Drawing on critical race theory critical multiculturalism intersectionality and critical reflection as practice theory this major new edited collection challenges many of the dominant assumptions of cross cultural social work and provides instead a new model of transformative engagement Key concepts are considered including identity culture diversity and superdiversity how power and privilege shape everyday interactions and what is meant by citizenship in the contemporary context Part One explores the changing nature of multicultural practice in Australia including our society's changing demographic profile the impact of asylum and refugee migrations race and racism and cultural identity Indigenous perspectives and the relationship with multicultural practice are examined together with the ethical and legal basis for multicultural practice This part concludes with an outline of the editors framework for critical multicultural practice Part Two draws on contributions from a range of practitioners and offers new perspectives on diverse fields including child protection mental health disability ageing homelessness and rural and regional practice Featuring case studies and insights drawn from across the spectrum of practice this book is a vital resource for all social workers practising in Australia today A rich and nuanced analysis of what is happening at the interfaces of our work and the lives of Australian citizens it articulates ways forward that are genuine bold and empathetic From the foreword by Professor Kerry Arabena The University of Melbourne

González, 2012-10 Print CourseSmart Rethinking Social Work Practice with Multicultural Communities Yolanda C. Padilla, Ruth McRoy, Rocío Calvo, 2020-05-21 With research showing that clients from diverse racial and ethnic groups disproportionately experience barriers in their interactions with social services and that providers recognize the need to be better prepared to work with these groups this book invites us to rethink current approaches to social work practice with multicultural communities We begin with a synthesis of the current evidence on the provision of care to multicultural communities that provides an in depth look at both client and provider experiences The following chapters offer tangible research based approaches to engaging with multicultural clients and reveal often unrecognized problems with current models of social work practice A unique compilation of rigorous qualitative experimental and community based studies demonstrate the effectiveness of culturally grounded interventions and identify the specific factors associated with positive outcomes Areas covered include disability marriage and couple relationship problems domestic violence and mental illness within Latinx African American First Nations and South Asian communities As the authors in this book show the stories of multicultural communities are narratives of unprecedented resourcefulness and reinvention Yet social work underutilizes rich family and community cultural resources By not facilitating their involvement social service systems compromise these vital resources which social services cannot replace In arguing that we need to expand professional boundaries to encompass indigenous practices family and extended kin and therapeutic relationships that make sense to different cultural groups this book will be of interest to those studying the ways in which social work practice can be improved to better suit the needs of a racially and ethnically diverse population This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Ethnic Cultural Diversity in Social Work Social Workers' Desk Reference Albert R. Roberts,2009 This is a new edition of the wildly successful everyday reference for social workers Like the first edition it has been crafted with the help of an extensive needs assessment survey of educators and front line practitioners ensuring that it speaks directly to the daily realities of the profession It features 40% new material and a more explicit focus on evidence based practice Decolonizing Social Work Mel Gray,John Coates,Michael Yellow Bird,Tiani Hetherington,2016-05-13 Riding on the success of Indigenous Social Work Around the World this book provides case studies to further scholarship on decolonization a major analytical and activist paradigm among many of the world s Indigenous Peoples including educators tribal leaders activists scholars politicians and citizens at the grassroots level Decolonization seeks to weaken the effects of colonialism and create opportunities to promote traditional practices in contemporary settings Establishing language and cultural programs honouring land claims teaching Indigenous history science and ways of knowing self esteem programs celebrating ceremonies restoring traditional parenting approaches tribal rites of passage traditional foods and helping and healing using tribal approaches are central to decolonization These insights are brought to the arena of international social work still dominated by western based approaches Decolonization draws attention to the effects of globalization and the universalization of education methods of practice and international development that fail to embrace and recognize local knowledges and methods In this volume Indigenous and non Indigenous social work scholars examine local cultures beliefs values and practices as central to decolonization Supported by a growing interest in spirituality and ecological awareness in international social work they interrogate trends issues and debates in Indigenous social work theory practice methods and education models including a section on Indigenous research approaches The diversity of perspectives decolonizing methodologies and the shared struggle to provide effective professional social work interventions is reflected in the international nature of the subject matter and in the mix of contributors who write from their contexts in different countries and cultures including Australia Canada Cuba Japan Jordan Mexico New Zealand South Africa and the USA Social Work in the 21st Century Morley D. Glick,2010-12-08 Social Work in the 21st Century is a T1 for courses called Introduction to Social Work and Social Welfare It is an overview of the Welfare system in America and it gives special attention to the role of a social worker and how they have historically interacted with the system This book is written as an alternative to the market leader Zastrow which is highly dense introduction to the social welfare system and social work The course is open to all majors and is often the course that draws students into the major of social work This book is intended to get students excited about the profession and thinking critically about what social workers do and how they operate within the larger system Unique features of the text include pedagogical features such as You be the Social Worker Questions to Determine your Frame of Reference Info tables and detailed cases with discussion questions All these features reviewed very well in the text and all are going to be retained updated and expanded in the new edition In addition the author will add interviews with social workers in various roles and contexts Reviewers made some very valuable recommendations for the new edition They include the following Incorporating a greater focus on the Person in Environment perspective unique to social work and a greater focus on macro issues and policy They also recommended adding more visually appealing elements such as more photos throughout the text A new feature will be invited essays by social workers in various roles from across the country This will give students a first hand experience of the variety of roles social workers perform In addition the author will update the book to reflect recent current events such as the historic election the recent catastrophes and government response since the book s publication and will incorporate a greater emphasis on international issues Finally the author will give great
