Sociology for the Twenty-first Century Janet L. Abu-Lughod, 1999 These original essays by eminent sociologists probe issues of central importance to North American societies in the twenty first century The chapters in part 1 revise theory and methods to comprehend the economic and political institutions that increasingly dominate the lives of individuals and groups arguing that these giants must be made more democratically accountable Part 2 explores the social effects that growing globalization transnationalization and information technologies are having on politics economics and the environment The final chapters compare how new immigrants from increasingly diversified backgrounds are being absorbed in Canada and the United States exploring the impact that immigrants are having on preexisting ethnic minorities and on the dominant political culture While it is a major attempt to refocus the discipline of sociology the book's clear nontechnical style and its attention to issues of central concern to all citizens make it also highly accessible to nonspecialists Contributors are Janet L.
