Sociology A Global Perspective:

Sociology Joan Ferrante, 2013 is a brief introduction to sociology paperback text that uses sociological concepts and theories to analyze the most compelling and significant issues of our day which happen to be global. Issues covered include the proposed and existing border fences that separate Mexico from the United States, the disparities between the world's richest and poorest countries, the century-long Palestinian-Israeli conflict, McDonaldization, and the planet's dependence on fossil fuels. This approach demonstrates sociology's analytical power for thinking about personal, local, national, but especially global issues and events. Publisher: Sociology Joan Ferrante, 1992-05. This was the first introductory text to use a truly comparative global approach to teach sociological concepts and ideas. Some texts claim to be global by including global boxes; however, the entire Ferrante text is written from this perspective. Ferrante uses an in-depth examination of life in other countries to help students understand sociological concepts while also providing comparison to the United States. By integrating throughout each chapter the connections to American society, this text gives students a broader understanding of sociological concepts, global interdependence, and societal differences as well as similarities. Migration from the Middle East and North Africa to Europe Heinz Fassmann, Michael Bommers, Wiebke Sievers, 2025-10-01 One of the most important challenges concerning the future of the European Union is the demographic reproduction of the European population Decreasing birth rates and the retirement of the baby boomers will dramatically reduce the labour force in the EU which will entail not only a lack of manpower but also lower contributions to European social systems It seems clear that the EU will have to counterbalance this population decrease by immigration in the coming years Migration Between the Middle East North Africa and Europe takes this challenge as a point of departure for analysing the MENA region in particular Morocco Egypt and Turkey as a possible source of future migration to the European Union At the same time it illustrates the uncertainties implied in such calculations especially at a time of radical political changes such as those brought about by the Arab Uprising A wide and scientific overview on migration potential from the NEMA region to the EU
