Joss Whedon vs. the Horror Tradition

Kristopher Karl Woofert, Lorna Jowett, 2018-11-29 Although ostensibly presented as light entertainment the work of writer director producer Joss Whedon takes much dark inspiration from the horror genre to create a unique aesthetic and perform a cultural critique Featuring monsters the undead as well as drawing upon folklore and fairy tales his many productions both celebrate and masterfully repurpose the traditions of horror for their own means Woofert and Jowett's collection looks at how Whedon revisits existing feminist tropes in the 70s and 80s slasher craze via Buffy the Vampire Slayer to create a feminist saga the innovative use of silent cinema tropes to produce a new fear laden film television intertext postmodernist reflexivity in Cabin in the Woods as well as exploring new concepts on cosmic dread and the sublime for a richer understanding of programmes

Dollhouse and Firefly Chapters provide the historical context of horror as well as the particular production backgrounds that by turns support constrain or transform this mode of filmmaking Informed by a wide range of theory from within philosophy film studies queer studies psychoanalysis feminism and other fields the expert contributions to this volume prove the enduring relevance of Whedon's genre based universe to the study of film television popular culture and beyond

Between Text and Image Delia Chiaro, Christine Heiss, Chiara Bucaria, 2008-08-14 Over the past decade interest in research on screen translation has increased sharply while at the same time fast moving technological breakthroughs are continually modifying and renewing both products and well established methods of linguistic mediation Thus as more scholars choose to devote their energies to investigating this multi faceted field there is an ever growing need to map out where the discipline stands and where it is going in terms of research This book sets out to establish the state of the art of this ever expanding field and at the same time to underscore the work of scholars following new paths of investigation both in terms of innovative linguistic mediations being examined and pioneering experimental design The volume includes descriptions of sophisticated electronic databases and corpora of audiovisual products for the big and small screen and the rationale behind them e g how they are created and programmed for querying technical limitations homogeneity in querying languages Furthermore Between Text and Image also includes a number of cutting edge studies in audience perception of audiovisual products i e empirically based viewer centred studies which are still rare yet essential if we wish to gain a thorough understanding of the field Finally the volume does not fail to ignore examples of original research carried out from both a traditional linguistic viewpoint and from a more cultural perspective
