Processing interclausal Relationships Jean Costermans, Michel Fayol, 2014-03-18 During the last 10 years more and more linguistic and psycholinguistic research has been devoted to the study of discourse and written texts Much of this research deals with the markers that underline the connections and the breaks between clauses and sentences plus the use of these markers by adults and children in the production and comprehension of oral and written material In this volume major observations and theoretical views from both sides of the Atlantic are brought together to appeal to a wide range of linguists psychologists and speech therapists The volume presents contributions from researchers interested specifically in adult language and from others concerned with developmental aspects of language Some contributors deal primarily with production whereas others concentrate on comprehension Some direct their attention to oral discourse while others focus on written texts To preserve overall coherence however the contributors were given the following recommendations With regard to the level of linguistic analysis the emphasis should be on the clause level more particularly on the relationships between clauses Special emphasis should also be placed on linguistic markers e g connectives markers of segmentation punctuation An overview of a given field of research should be offered and current research should be put into perspective For contributors in the developmental field attention should be paid to the fact that an account of the acquisition of some language functions throughout childhood should be included only if general principles of interclause relations that might be masked by the exclusive examination of adult evidence could be derived from it

F.S.P. Arthur Gwynn-Browne, 2017-07-24 I am in the F S P F S P stands for Field Security Personnel That is the authorized version So begins this remarkable account of six months service with the British Expeditionary Force in France up to and including the terrible retreat to and evacuation from the beaches of Dunkirk at the end of May 1940 Absorbing affecting thrilling often funny this book is very different from other war memoirs It was the first on the ground account of Dunkirk to be published in 1942 and lacks nothing in the immediacy of its telling The narrative is gripping and the style is revolutionary immersing the readers in the emotional and psychological turbulence of the author s experience and making them feel they are living through it themselves The result is a stunningly authentic and involving record of one of the defining episodes of twentieth century British history Editor N H Reeve provides a lucid critical and biographical Afterword and includes two extracts from an unfinished work by Gwynn Browne in which his idiosyncratic stream of consciousness style is used to describe the London Blitz and the mood of the civilian population in wartime

Journal of American Folklore ,1911      Educational Enactments in a Globalised World ,2009-01-01 Acrylic oil glue stick and layered canvas 1830 x 2075 Collection of the artist What does it mean to learn and educate in these social and historical times This edited collection engages an international group of education thinkers in a series of ongoing intercultural conversations that speak to the challenges and possibilities of engaging with education difference and diversity in a globalised world Shifting across a range of geographical theoretical institutional and disciplinary contexts the contributors identify in their own empirical and theoretical research work examples of localised solutions to the problems of diversity for the practice of education These educational enactments illustrate the interactions of localised and global level discourses within contexts of educational policy and practice and allow an exploration of how abstract notions of education are applied through education as a practice and or subjective experience Mindful of the structural limitations imposed by the regime of globalisation the book explores the challenges and the agentive possibilities of working across cultural and material boundaries and provides multiple venues in which to transcend the limitations of addressing educational issues through a single lens Engaging with both the challenges and the complexities of intercultural conversations in relation to issues of diversity and difference the book s contributors recognise that their role as educators compels them to engage with the dilemmas as well as the productive possibilities of what it means to learn and to educate within such interesting times Cover image Kiss I Kiss at the Gate by Linda James 1991 Acrylic oil glue stick and layered canvas 1830 x 2075 Collection of the artist      *California.
