So Vast The Prison:

So Vast the Prison Assia Djebar, 2011-01-04 So Vast the Prison is the double threaded story of a modern educated Algerian woman existing in a man's society and not surprisingly living a life of contradictions Djebar too tackles cross cultural issues just by writing in French of an Arab society the actual act of writing contrasting with the strong oral traditions of the indigenous culture as a woman who has seen revolution in a now post colonial country and as an Algerian living in exile In this new novel Djebar brilliantly plays these contradictions against the bloody history of Carthage a great civilization the Berbers were once compared to and makes it both a tribute to the loss of Berber culture and a meeting point of culture and language As the story of one woman's experience in Algeria it is a private tale but one embedded in a vast history A radically singular voice in the world of literature Assia Djebar's work ultimately reaches beyond the particulars of Algeria to embrace in stark yet sensuous language the universal themes of violence intimacy ostracism victimization and exile So

Vast the Prison Assia Djebar, 2002 Vaste est la prison Assia Djebar, 1995 We Are Imazighen Fazia Aïtel, 2014-11-04 To the world they are known as Berbers but they prefer to call themselves Imazighen or free people The claim to this unique cultural identity has been felt most acutely in Algeria in the Kabylia region where an Amazigh consciousness gradually emerged after WWII This is a valuable model for other Amazigh movements in North Africa where the existence of an Amazigh language and culture is denied or dismissed in countries such as Morocco Algeria Tunisia and Libya By tracing the cultural production of the Kabyle people their songs oral traditions and literature from the early 1930s to the end of the twentieth century Fazia Aïtel shows how they have defined their own culture over time both within Algeria and in its diaspora She analyzes the role of Amazigh identity in the works of novelists such as Mouloud Feraoun Tahar Djaout and Assia Djebar and she investigates the intersection of Amazigh consciousness and the Beur movement in France She also addresses the political and social role of the Kabyles in Algeria and in France where after independence it was easier for the Berber community to express and organize itself Ultimately Aïtel argues that the Amazigh literary tradition is founded on dual priorities the desire to foster a genuine dialogue while retaining a unique culture Contemporary Fiction in French

Anna-Louise Milne, Russell Williams, 2021-03-25 Our global literary field is fluid and exists in a state of constant evolution Contemporary fiction in French has become a polycentric and transnational field of vibrant and varied experimentation the collapse of the distinction between French and Francophone literature has opened up French writing to a world of new influences and interactions In this collection renowned scholars provide thoughtful close readings of a whole range of genres from graphic novels to crime fiction to the influence of television and film to analyse modern French fiction in its historical and sociological context Allowing students of contemporary French literature and culture to situate specific works within broader trends the volume provides an engaging global and timely overview of contemporary fiction writing in French and demonstrates how our modern literary world is more complex and diverse than ever before In the Dark Room Rosanna

Maule, Julie Beaulieu, 2009 This book examines Duras's contribution to contemporary cinema The dark room in the collection's title refers to one of Duras's metaphors for the writing process la chambre noire as the solitary space of literary creation the place where she struggles to project her internal shadow onto the blank page The dark room is also a metaphor for the film theater and by extension for the filmic experience Duras rejected conventional forms of cinematic address that encourage the spectator to develop a positive identification with the film's diegesis and narrative Her films create unusual rapports between image and sound diegetic and extra diegetic elements and textual and intertextual dimensions of cinematic representation In doing so they allow the film spectator to establish new connections with the screen This collection focuses on the aesthetic conceptual and political challenges involved in Duras's innovative approach to cinematic representation from an interdisciplinary perspective including film and literary theory psychoanalytic analysis music theory gender studies and post colonial criticism The book opens with a theoretical introduction to Duras's cinematic practice and its peculiar position in contemporary cinema and contemporary film theory and is divided into five parts each one devoted to a specific aspect of Duras's films the interaction between literature and cinema Part One the reconfiguration of the cinematic gaze Part Two and of the image sound relation Part Three the representation of history and memory Part Four and of cultural identity Part Five

The Disorder of Things John Masterson, 2013-04-01 Nuruddin Farah is widely regarded as one of the most sophisticated voices in contemporary world literature Michel Foucault is revered as one of the most important thinkers of the twentieth century with his discursive legacy providing inspiration for scholars working in a range of interdisciplinary fields The Disorder of Things offers a reading of the Somali novelist through the prism of the French philosopher The book argues that the preoccupations that have remained central throughout Farah's forty year career including political autocracy female infibulation border conflicts international aid and development civil war transnational migration and the Horn of Africa's place in a so called axis of evil can be mapped onto some key concerns in Foucault's writing most notably Foucault's theoretical turn from disciplinary to biopolitical power In both the colonial past and the postcolonial present Somalia is typically represented as an incubator of disorder whether in relation to internecine conflict international terrorism or contemporary piracy Through his work both fictional and non fictional Farah strives to present alternative stories to an expanding global readership The Disorder of Things analyses the politics and poetics that underpin this literary project beginning with Farah's first fictional cycle Variations on the Theme of an African Dictatorship 1979 1983 and ending with his Past Imperfect trilogy 2004 2011 Farah's writing calls for a more refined substantial reading of our current geo political situation As such it both warrants and compels the kind of critical engagement foregrounded throughout The Disorder of Things This book will appeal to students academics and general readers with an interest in the interdisciplinary study of literature Its engagement with theorists drawn from postcolonial feminist and development studies set against the backdrop of a host of philosophical and sociological discourses shows how such intellectual cross fertilisation can enliven a single author study Approaches to Teaching the Works of Assia Djébar Anne Donadey, 2017-06-01 Offers pedagogical techniques for teaching the works of Assia Djébar in the college classroom including considerations of biography violence translation race gender postcolonial feminism French and francophone studies Islamic historiography film and poststructuralist theory Includes information on editions reference works and translations Gives syllabus suggestions for undergraduate and graduate courses Deleuzian Fabulation and the Scars of History Ronald Bogue, 2010-07-05 The concept of fabulation makes a late appearance in Deleuze's career and in only limited detail but by tracing its connections to other concepts and situating them within Deleuze's general aesthetics Ronald Bogue develops a theory of fabulation which he proposes as the guiding principle of a Deleuzian approach to literary narrative Fabulation he argues entails becoming other experimenting on the real legending and inventing a people to come as well as an understanding of time informed by Deleuze's Chronos Aion distinction and his theory of the three passive syntheses of time In close readings of contemporary novels by Zakes Mda Arundhati Roy Roberto Bolaño Assia Djébar and Richard Flanagan he demonstrates the usefulness of fabulation as a critical tool while exploring the problematic relationship between history and story telling which all five novelists adopt as a central thematic concern This is an original and exciting project by a highly respected specialist in the field

Transcultural Identities in Contemporary Literature Irene Gilsenan Nordin, Julie Hansen, Carmen Zamorano Llena, 2013-10-01 In recent decades globalization has led to increased mobility and interconnectedness For a growing number of people contemporary life entails new local and transnational interdependencies which transform individual and collective allegiances Contemporary literature often reflects these changes through its exploration of migrant experiences and transcultural identities Calling into question traditional definitions of culture many recent works of poetry and prose fiction go beyond the spatial boundaries of a given state emphasizing instead the mixing and collision of languages cultures and identities In doing so they also challenge recent and contemporary discourses about cultural identities fostering a more nuanced understanding of the complexities of identity formation processes in diverse transcultural frameworks This volume analyses how traditional understandings of culture as well as literary representations of identity constructs can be reconceptualized from a transcultural perspective In four thematic sections focusing on migration cosmopolitanism multiculturalism and literary translingualism the twelve essays included in this volume explore various facets of transculturality in contemporary poetry and fiction from around the world Contributors Malin Lidström Brock Katherina Dodou Pilar Cuder Domínguez Stefan Helgesson Christoph Houswitschka Carly McLaughlin Kristin Rebien J B Rollins Karen L Ryan Eric Sellin Mats Tegmark Carmen Zamorano Llena Irene Gilsenan Nordin is Professor of English Literature at Dalarna University Sweden She is founder and director of DUCIS Dalarna University Centre for Irish Studies and leads Dalarna University's Transcultural Identities research group Julie Hansen is Research Fellow at the Uppsala Centre for Russian and Eurasian Studies and teaches Russian literature in the Department of Modern Languages at Uppsala University

Sweden Carmen Zamorano Llena is Associate Professor of English Literature at Dalarna University Sweden and member of Dalarna University's Transcultural Identities research group Reports of the Prison Discipline Society, Boston Prison Discipline Society (Boston, Mass.), 1855 Algerian Imprints Brigitte Weltman-Aron, 2015-08-18 Born and raised in French Algeria Assia Djebar and Hélène Cixous represent in their literary works signs of conflict and enmity drawing on discordant histories so as to reappraise the political on the very basis of dissensus In a rare comparison of these authors' writings Algerian Imprints shows how Cixous and Djebar consistently reclaim for ethical and political purposes the demarcations and dislocations emphasized in their fictions Their works affirm the chance for thinking afforded by marginalization and exclusion and delineate political ways of preserving a space for difference informed by expropriation and nonbelonging Cixous's inquiry is steeped in her formative encounter with the grudging integration of the Jews in French Algeria while Djebar's narratives concern the colonial separation of French and Arab self and other Yet both authors elaborate strategies to address inequality and injustice without resorting to tropes of victimization challenging and transforming the understanding of the history and legacy of colonized space African Freedom Phyllis Taoua, 2018-07-26 The push for independence in African nations was ultimately an incomplete process with the people often left to wrestle with a partial imperfect legacy Rather than settle for liberation in name alone the people engaged in an ongoing struggle for meaningful freedom Phyllis Taoua shows how the idea of freedom in Africa today evolved from this complex history With a pan African interdisciplinary approach she synthesizes the most significant issues into a clear compelling narrative Tracing the evolution of a conversation about freedom since the 1960s she defines three types and shows how they are interdependent Taoua investigates their importance in key areas of narrative interest the intimate self gender identity the nation global capital and the spiritual realm Allowing us to hear the voices of African artists and activists this compelling study makes sense of their struggle and the broad importance of the idea of freedom in contemporary African culture Transnationalism and Resistance: Experience and Experiment in Women's Writing Adele Parker, Stephenie Young, 2013 This study presents a unique collection of essays which focus on the relationships among form aesthetics and transnational women's writing produced in recent years The essays in this volume treat literary works from diverse cultures and geographies concentrating on the intersections of theory and literature This results in a wide spectrum of identities and texts including the work of Swedish poet Aase Berg the Indian translation market the Chicana novel creative non fiction by Croatian writer Dubravka Ugrešić and multilingual hybrid texts by Theresa Hak Kyung Cha in order to provide a framework for an overarching theory of transnationalism as it interacts with newer paradigms of gendered identity and the new forms of literature to which they contribute Transnationalism and Resistance offers a multifaceted approach to transnational studies and constitutes a cogent analysis of the ways in which women's writing informs contemporary global literary Production This volume is of interest for scholars in women's studies literature the social sciences cultural studies and all other fields that take an interest in writing that addresses contemporary global issues The Word Behind Bars and the Paradox of Exile Kofi Anyidoho, 1997 The Word Behind Bars and the Paradox of Exile grew out of a workshop that brought together a group of African writers including many who suffered imprisonment in their home countries and or exile abroad For some the workshop prompted their first attempt to write about their experiences and to compare them with others whose life and art had come under similar constraints This collection represents their assessments in prose poetry and drama of the many facets of the exile experience The papers are as graphic eloquent and thought provoking as they are varied in their subject matter and mode of communication A powerful fusion of the personal and the political The Word Behind Bars and the Paradox of Exile offers a timely perspective on conditions of literary production in many parts of Africa today Girlhood Jennifer Helgren, Colleen A. Vasconcellos, 2010 Girlhood interdisciplinary and global in source scope and methodology examines the centrality of girlhood in shaping women's lives Scholars study how age and gender along with a multitude of other identities work together to influence the historical experience Spanning a broad time frame from 1750 to the present essays illuminate the various continuities and differences in girls' lives across culture and region girls on all continents except Antarctica are represented Case studies and essays are arranged thematically to encourage comparisons between girls' experiences in diverse locales and to assess how girls were affected by historical developments such as colonialism political repression war modernization shifts in labor markets migrations and the rise of consumer culture Transnational Cervantes William Childers, 2014-05-01 This ambitious work aims to utterly change the way Don Quixote and Cervantes' other works are read particularly the posthumous The Trial of Persiles and Sigismunda William Childers sets out to free Cervantes' work from its context within the histories of the European national literatures Instead he examines early modern Spanish cultural production as an antecedent to contemporary postcolonial literature especially Latin American fiction of the past half century In order to construct his new context for reading Cervantes Childers proceeds in three distinct phases First Cervantes' relation to the Western literary canon is reconfigured detaching him from the realist novel and associating him instead with magic realism Second Childers provides an innovative reading of The Trial of Persiles and Sigismunda as a transnational romance exploring cultural boundaries and the hybridization of identities Finally Childers explores traces of and similarities to Cervantes in contemporary fiction Theoretically eclectic and methodologically innovative Transnational Cervantes opens up many avenues for research and debate aiming to bring Cervantes' writings forward into the brave new world of our postcolonial age

Naming Race, Naming Racisms Jonathan Judaken, 2013-09-13 Eschewing social scientific approaches which tend to examine race and racism in terms of quasi-static ideal types this book surveys differing historical contexts from the era of scientific racism in the nineteenth century to the post-racial racism of the post-9/11 period and from Europe to the United States in order to understand how racism has been articulated in differing situations It is distinguished by the attention it pays to the on-going power of racial discourse in the contemporary period as a legitimating factor in oppression It exemplifies methodological openness combining the work of historians philosophers religious scholars and literary critics and includes differing theoretical models in pursuing a critical approach to race cultural studies trauma theory and psychoanalysis critical theory and consideration of the new racism and postcolonialism and the literature on globalization It brings together the work of leading academics with younger practitioners and is capped off by an interview with world renowned intellectual Cornel West on black intellectuals in America This book was previously published as a special issue of Patterns of Prejudice

A Quiet Will: The Life of Clara Barton (Abridged, Annotated) William E. Barton, Like Florence Nightingale Clara Barton was so much more than the Angel of the Battlefield It was not until the American Civil War that she found her calling As a young woman she struggled with the deep emotions that would be a lifelong trait 1852 I have found it extremely hard to restrain the tears today and would have given almost anything to have been alone and undisturbed I have seldom felt more friendless and I believe I ever feel enough so I see less and less in the world to live for and in spite of all my resolution and reason and moral courage and everything else I grow weary and impatient I know it is wicked and perhaps foolish but I cannot help it There is not a living thing but would be just as well off without me I contribute to the happiness of not a single object and often to the unhappiness of many and always of my own for I am never happy True I laugh and joke but could weep that very moment and be the happier for it She received an appointment as clerk in the Patent Office at a salary of 1400 a year She was one of the first and believed herself to have been the very first of women appointed to a regular position in one of the departments with work and wages equal to that of a man Then came the catastrophe of the Civil War Early on she decided that marriage would not be the direction of her life She didn't just throw herself into her battlefield work she reinvented how it should be done She operated independently from Dorothea Dix and the corps of army nursing She went where the shells were flying After the war she worked tirelessly to find out the fate of missing soldiers From the beginning of the year 1865 to the end of 1868 she sent out 63 182 letters of inquiry But her crowning achievement was not the fame she gained and the company of the powerful She fought tooth and nail against an isolationist United States to gain acceptance of the Treaty of Geneva which helped her found the American Red Cross Nearly to the end of her long life she worked in the field often at the cost of her own health But she was no shrinking violet She knew how to fight quietly and plied her inflexible will upon the causes that mattered most to her the Red Cross abolition of slavery women's rights and relief of suffering There has probably not been a better biography of Barton than this two volume set by William Barton published in 1922 For the first time both volumes are together in a well formatted ebook version Every memoir of the American Civil War provides us with another view of the catastrophe that changed the country forever Be sure to LOOK INSIDE by clicking the cover above or download a sample
