Archaeology Barry W. Cunliffe, Wendy Davies, Colin Renfrew, 2002 Twenty six leading scholars from around the world have come together to celebrate the strengths the energies and the sheer intellectual excitement of their discipline They unashamedly proclaim that over the last hundred years archaeology has transformed itself from a genteel antiquarian pursuit deeply rooted in the classical tradition to a rigorous and demanding discipline spanning the humanities and the sciences yet at the same time one widely accessible to the public at large The contributors show how our understanding of the past has changed reveal the exciting ideas under current debate and offer their visions of the future The result is a remarkable overview of world archaeology focusing on new and unexpected themes at the cutting edge of the discipline Trekking the Shore Nuno F. Bicho, Jonathan A. Haws, Loren G. Davis, 2011-05-19 Human settlement has often centered around coastal areas and waterways Until recently however archaeologists believed that marine economies did not develop until the end of the Pleistocene when the archaeological record begins to have evidence of marine life as part of the human diet This has long been interpreted as a postglacial adaptation due to the rise in sea level and subsequent decrease in terrestrial resources Coastal resources particularly mollusks were viewed as fallback resources which people resorted to only when terrestrial resources were scarce included only as part of a more complex diet Recent research has significantly altered this understanding known as the Broad Spectrum Revolution BSR model The contributions to this volume revise the BSR model with evidence that coastal resources were an important part of human economies and subsistence much earlier than previously thought and even the main focus of diets for some Pleistocene and early Holocene hunter gatherer societies With evidence from North and South America Europe Africa Asia and Australia this volume comprehensively lends a new understanding to coastal settlement from the Middle Paleolithic to the Middle Holocene Nature(s) in Construction María Lelia Pochettino, Aylen Capparelli, Pablo C. Stampella, Diego Andreoni, 2024-09-14 This book provides the state of the art of ethnobiology in Argentina and related Latin American countries highlighting timely trends and topics It synthesizes studies resulting from the III Jornadas Argentinas de Etnobiología y Sociedad III JAES 3rd Argentinian Meeting of Ethnobiology and Society convened in La Plata in 2021 As a relatively new academic development ethnobiology integrates approaches from different points of view such as biology anthropology geography history linguistics and in a crucial recent advance local perspectives Consequently this volume contains 33 contributions from 86 authors of different countries orientations and disciplines but all related to interrelationships between people s and the natural environment Chapters cover a diverse array of topics ranging from biocultural relationships and their historical construction through time to conservation of biocultural and agrobiodiversity ethnomycology ethnophycology and meliponiculture and beyond The volume s main goal is to propitiate the preservation of biocultural diversity through the application of ethnobiological wisdom in a global context characterized by the accelerated loss of traditional knowledge The contributions aim to transcend the nature culture dichotomy emphasizing the inextricable relationship between communities and their environment and the importance of acting jointly in the construction of the inhabited landscape and local identity Informacion Tecnologica ,1997-12 Climatic and Environmental History of Isla de los Estados, Argentina Juan Federico Ponce, Marilén Fernández, 2013-07-11 This book is the result of ten years of scientific research carried out by the authors on Isla de los Estados The research includes their doctoral thesis and many published scientific papers related to the island The book is divided into two principal parts The first part covers different social and natural aspects of this remote island and includes chapters on the scientific and historical background physiography with topographical and hydrographical descriptions climate and oceanographic circulation vegetation and geology including stratigraphy structural geology and geological history The second part comprises a reconstruction of the paleoenvironmental paleoclimatic and paleogeographic history of the island from the Last Glacial Maximum to the present correlating with other paleoecological records from the southern part of Isla Grande de Tierra del Fuego and Patagonia This second part also includes a geomorphological chapter with a characterization of the principal erosive glacial landforms on Isla de los Estados constructed by means of morphometric analysis inventories maps paleogeographic and glacial models and a paleoecological chapter evaluating the palaeoenvironment and palaeoclimatic conditions that prevailed during the Late Pleistocene Holocene times based on pollen and diatom analysis from three ^{14}C dated peat bogs and lakes Finally the book concludes with a review of the island s archaeology and the relationship between the palaeoenvironmental history and human occupation of this island A System of Stages for Correlation of Magallanes Basin Sediments ,1974 In the summer of 2011 the death of their mother sends Megan and her younger brother Ian on a dangerous journey across a Canada ravaged by drought and the collapse of civilization
