Transformation of Cities in Central and Eastern Europe F. E. Ian Hamilton, Kaliopa Dimitrovska Andrews, Nataša Pichler-Milanović, 2005 Annotation This volume is one in a series initiated by the United Nations University Institute of Advanced Studies on the inter relationship between globalisation and urban transformation It identifies and describes the inter and intra urban transformations of Central and Eastern European cities and considers their pre 1945 historic legacies the socialist period and their contemporary transition towards market oriented and democratic systems The dramatic changes since 1989 including the collapse of Communist ideology the break up of the Soviet Union Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia the end of the Cold War and the impact of globalisation and European integration have reconfigured this region and affected their re integration into European and global networks This book first examines the similarities and differences between significant Central and Eastern European cities comparing the differing patterns of historical context and socialist legacies before 1990 and the impacts of internal and external forces on re shaping these cities and their paths of transformation since 1990 It also examines the role of contemporary planning within the overall development of Central and Eastern European cities The conclusion demonstrates the similarities and differences between Central and Eastern European cities and their re integration into global networks Social Capital and Economics Asimina Christoforou, John Davis, 2014-05-30 This volume provides a collection of critical new perspectives on social capital theory by examining how social values power relationships and social identity interact with social capital This book seeks to extend this theory into what have been largely under investigated domains and at the same time address long standing classic questions in the literature concerning the forms determinants and consequences of social capital Social capital can be understood in terms of social norms and networks It manifests itself in patterns of trust reciprocity and cooperation The authors argue that the degree to which and the different ways in which people exhibit these distinctively social behaviours depend on how norms and networks elicit their values reflect power relationships and draw on their social identities This volume accordingly adopts a variety of different concepts and measures that incorporate the variety of contextually specific factors that operate on social capital formation In addition it adopts an interdisciplinary outlook that combines a wide range of social science disciplines and methods of social research Our objective is to challenge standard rationality theory explanations of norms and networks which overlook the role of values power and identity This volume appeals to researchers and students in multiple social sciences including economics sociology political science social psychology history public policy and international relations that employ social capital concepts and methods in their research It can be seen as a set of new extensions of social capital theory in connection with its themes of social values power and identity that would advance the scholarly literature on social norms and networks and their impact on social change and public welfare

Civic Resources and the Future of the European Union Ireneusz Pawel Karolewski, Viktoria Kaina, 2012-08-21 This book shines new light on the political system of the European Union EU by focusing on civic resources as a keystone of the EU's ability to sustain Less tangible resources such as trust solidarity mutual recognition and citizens social and political participation have been until now largely ignored in the research on European integration Due to the fundamental changes to the EU in recent years and the challenges ahead European citizens have become increasingly critical of a long lasting unification process in Europe This volume theoretically and empirically examines how the European citizens themselves may contribute to the long term effectiveness legitimacy and endurance of the EU This book aims to examine the issues associated with the utilization of civic resources by the EU and the ability of European citizens to develop transnational civic resources Expert contributors in the field develop a framework to understand and explore the potential of citizens in the uncertain future of the EU Civic Resources and the Future of the European Union will be of interest to students and scholars of European Politics and European Union Studies

Diversity of Patchwork Capitalism in Central and Eastern Europe Ryszard Rapacki, 2019-06-10 This book is a comparative study which sheds a new empirical and theoretical light on the nature of post communist capitalism in 11 EU new member countries of Central and Eastern Europe or CEE11 Extending and modifying a well established conceptual framework for comparative capitalism rooted in new institutional economics and economic sociology it offers a better explanation for transition specific and path dependent factors inherent to systemic transformation Based on a vast dataset the book therefore illuminates the dissimilarities among the institutional architectures in the EU countries Thus the book argues that the evolving capitalism in Central and Eastern Europe exhibits strong symptoms of institutional ambiguity or a patchwork nature which makes it a distinct category from any of the co existing models of Western European capitalism This book will be of key interest to scholars and students of comparative political economy Eastern European politics post communist studies and more broadly to researchers in the fields of economics European politics and the wider social sciences It will also be of significance to journalists policymakers members of international organizations and consultancies with an interest in Central and Eastern Europe and in European integration
