Health and Gender Ilaria Tarricone, Anita

Riecher-Rössler, 2019-08-10 This book presents a concise and comprehensive overview of the most important protective and risk factors for women's health and reviews the main areas of medical science from a gender perspective. Numerous scientific experiments and studies have shown how gender differences significantly affect the clinical presentation of physical and mental health disorders as well as responses to treatments. This text highlights these issues while at the same time reflecting on the practical implications of the theoretical knowledge presented. It also examines the organization of social and health services which should increasingly take into account the specificities related to gender differences and where equality is based on truly embracing these differences. The final part provides insights into the experiences and testimonies collected by the authors of the book. Written by a multidisciplinary team of medical, psychosocial and humanities professionals, this book is of interest to health professionals and medical students.

Social Psychiatry in South Asia S. M. Yasir Arafat, Amit

Singh, Sujita Kumar Kar, 2025-09-24 This book focuses on the impact of social dimensions on the mental health of people living in the eight South Asian countries. The biopsychosocial approach has been well accepted and considered while formulating the risk factors and treatment strategy for mental disorders. It indicates the importance of social structure and social influence on mental health, psychiatric disorders and treatment. The social determinants of mental health including social networks, culture, norms, socio-economic conditions and healthcare systems in South Asia vary remarkably from the West. Also, societal changes under Western influence are noticeable in several sections, leading to a change in the way people cope with adversities. Additionally, the political and economic instability in several countries poses additional challenges to mental health. The impact of social structure in South Asia on psychiatric disorders and vice versa has not been adequately addressed yet, so this book seeks to address that. The book also takes a look at various new state-run social initiatives to advance mental health and manage mental illnesses.

Psychological Interventions from Six Continents Barbara L.

Mercer, Heather Macdonald, Caroline Purves, 2022-07-01 This book presents psychological assessment and intervention in a cultural and relational context. A diverse range of contributors representing six continents and eleven countries write about their therapeutic interventions, all of which break the traditional assessor-as-expert-oriented framework and offer a creative adaptation in service delivery. A Collaborative Therapeutic Assessment model including work with immigrant communities and Indigenous modalities underscore individual and collective case illustrations highlighting equality in the roles of the provider and the receiver of services. The universality and uniqueness of culture are explored as a construct and through case material. Some chapters describe a partnership with a Eurocentric scientific model while others adopt a purely community method preserved with Indigenous language and subjective methodology. This volume brings together diverse therapeutic collaborative ideas and recognizes relational community and cultural psychologies as integral to mainstream assessment and intervention literature. This book is essential for psychologists and clinicians internationally and graduate students.
