The Best Science Fiction of the Year Neil Clarke, 2018-04-03 As Earth dies, an architect is commissioned to remotely build a monument on Mars from the remains of a failed colony. A man who has transferred his consciousness into a humanoid robot discovers he's missing thirty percent of his memories and tries to discover why bored with life in the underground colony of an alien world, a few risk life inside one of the whales floating in the planet's atmosphere. An apprentice librarian searching through centuries of SETI messages from alien civilizations makes an ominous discovery. A ship in crisis pulls a veteran multitbot out from storage with an unusual assignment: pest control. The dead are given a second shot at life in exchange for a five-year term in a zombie military program. For decades, science fiction has compelled us to imagine futures both inspiring and cautionary. Whether it's a warning message from a survey ship, a harrowing journey to a new world, or the adventures of well-meaning AI, science fiction inspires the imagination and delivers a lens through which we can view ourselves and the world around us. With The Best Science Fiction of the Year Volume Three, award-winning editor Neil Clarke provides a year in review and twenty-seven of the best stories published by both new and established authors in 2017.
