specific examples of television coverage of the defining topics of the late 1980s and early 1990s including the arrival of cable technology and CNN which changed the way wars and crises are covered how some members of the media practiced unsafe journalism in their reports on AIDS the role the media assumed as the moral police in recent election campaigns the way race and class influenced crime stories such as the Tawana Brawley and the Central Park jogger cases how the media has often seemed married to the mob in its reporting about reputed godfather John Gotti and the changes in White House press coverage as Ronald Reagan was succeeded by George Bush Diamond concludes by proposing several ideas for creating new media structures Edwin Diamond is Professor of Journalism at New York University where he directs the News Study Group and he is media columnist for New York magazine His previous books include Good News Bad News Sign Off The Last Days of Television and The Spot The Rise of Political Advertising on Television
