Elizabeth Graue, 1993-01-01 This book looks at readiness from a different perspective arguing that we must move away from the readiness as child characteristic so prevalent in education and the popular press Instead readiness is explained as an idea constructed by parents teachers and children as they interact in their neighborhoods and communities Graue describes three communities in the same school district a middle class suburban town of professionals a rural working class community and a group of Hispanic working class families making their way through their children's kindergarten experiences In each setting the local meaning of readiness is the underlying theme in the actions taken by parents and their attitudes about their children's first public school experience Blue Dreams Nancy ABELMANN, John Lie, Nancy Abelman, 2009-06-30 No one will soon forget the image blazed across the airwaves of armed Korean Americans taking to the rooftops as their businesses went up in flames during the Los Angeles riots Why Korean Americans What stoked the wrath the riots unleashed against them Blue Dreams is the first book to make sense of these foregrounding ethical and socially contextualized concerns in language testing and language test validation in today's globalized world. The editors bring together diverse perspectives, qualitative and quantitative methodologies, and empirical work on this subject that speak to concerns about social justice and equity in language education from languages and contexts around the world, offering an overview of key concepts and theoretical issues and field-advancing suggestions for research projects. Interrogating the Neoliberal Lifecycle Beverley Clack, Michele Paule, 2018-12-14 In this timely collection, contributors from a number of disciplines discuss neoliberal visions of success and the subsequent effects they have on the construction of the lifecycle. Frequently mentioned in popular political discourse, the notion of neoliberalism is often deployed as shorthand for the consensus that austerity is necessary and the hard-working individual can survive it. This volume unpicks and interrogates the term by engaging with the interface between the political ubiquity of neoliberal forms and its lived experience in neoliberal societies, cutting across a multiplicity of factors including gender, age, and access to education. Impressive in its wide scope and analysis, Interrogating the Neoliberal Lifecycle presents an informed discussion not only of the limits of the neoliberal paradigm but also of possible alternatives.

"So What Are You Going to Do with That?" Susan Basalla, Maggie Debelius, 2008-09-15 Graduate schools churn out tens of thousands of Ph.D.s and M.A.s every year. Half of all college courses are taught by adjunct faculty. The chances of an academic landing a tenure-track job seem only to shrink as student loan and credit card debts grow. What's a frustrated would-be scholar to do? Can he really leave academia? Can a non-academic job really be rewarding, and will anyone want to hire a grad-school refugee? With So What Are You Going to Do with That? Susan Basalla and Maggie Debelius, Ph.D.s themselves, answer all those questions with a resounding Yes. A witty, accessible guide full of concrete advice for anyone contemplating the jump from scholarship to the outside world, So What Are You Going to Do with That? covers topics ranging from career counseling to interview etiquette to translating skills learned in the academy into terms an employer can understand and appreciate. Packed with examples and stories from real people who have successfully made this daunting but potentially rewarding transition and written with a deep understanding of both the joys and difficulties of the academic life, this fully revised and up-to-date edition will be indispensable for any graduate student or professor who has ever glanced at her CV, flipped through the want ads, and wondered, "What if I will absolutely be recommending this book to our graduate students exploring their career options?" I'd love to see it on the coffee tables in department lounges.
