Spirit of the Wind

A photograph of a waterfall cascading down a rocky cliff, surrounded by dense green foliage. The water is white and frothy as it falls, creating a misty spray at the bottom. The surrounding forest is lush and green, with various shades of foliage visible. The overall scene is serene and natural.

The Human Spirit Marjorie O'Rourke Boyle, 2018-11-01 In this volume Marjorie O'Rourke Boyle probes significant concepts of the human spirit in Western religious culture across more than two millennia from the book of Genesis to early modern science. The Human Spirit treats significant interpretations of human nature as religious, in political, philosophical, and physical aspects by tracing its historical subject through the Priestly tradition of the Hebrew Bible and the writings of the apostle Paul among the Corinthians, the innovative theologians Augustine and Aquinas, the reformatory theologian Calvin, and the natural philosopher and physician William Harvey. Boyle analyzes the particular experiences and notions of these influential authors while she contextualizes them in community. She shows how they shared a conviction, although distinctly understood, of the human spirit as endowed by or designed by a divine source of everything animate. An original and erudite work that utilizes a rich and varied array of primary source material, this volume will be of interest to intellectual and cultural historians of religion, philosophy, literature, and medicine.
