Social Construction Of Context Through P:

The Social Construction of Context Through Play M. Nawal Lutfiyya, 1987 The primary question guiding this investigation is How are communicative social contexts created Human play or fanciful recontextualization is the research site for generating data to answer this question Transforming the contents of the ongoing production of ordinary life in a playful manner creates new social relationships Useful for upper level students of psychology anthropology communication and theatre Social Construction in Context Kenneth J Gergen, 2001-05-23 This latest book by one the world s leading protagonists in the field will be welcomed not just by psychologists but by students academics and professionals interested in social constructionism across a wide range of subjects Social Construction in Context explores the potentials of social constructionist theory when placed in diverse intellectual and practical contexts It demonstrates the achievements of social constructionism and what it can now offer various fields of inquiry both academic professional and applied given the proliferation of the theory across the social sciences and humanities The Social Construction of Landscapes in Games Dennis Edler, Olaf Kühne, Corinna Jenal, 2022-06-25 The book is dedicated to a compilation of diverse and creative landscapes which occur in games Being part of a game setting these landscapes trigger social construction processes in specific ways A selection of twenty four research articles addresses the social constructions of landscapes represented in analogue digital and hybrid game formats as well as their theoretical framing and future perspectives Handbook of Mobile Learning Zane L. Berge, Lin Muilenburg, 2013-06-19 Winner of the AECT Division of Distance Learning DDL Distance Education Book Award This handbook provides a comprehensive compendium of research in all aspects of mobile learning one of the most significant ongoing global developments in the entire field of education Rather than focus on specific technologies expert authors discuss how best to utilize technology in the service of improving teaching and learning For more than a decade researchers and practitioners have been exploring this area of study as the growing popularity of smartphones tablets and other such devices as well as the increasingly sophisticated applications for these devices has allowed educators to accommodate and support an increasingly mobile society This handbook provides the first authoritative account of the theory and research that underlies mobile learning while also exemplifying models of current and future practice Decolonising and Reframing Critical Social Work Sophie Goldingay, Joleen Ryan, Angela Daddow, 2024-10-21 This book problematises and then reshapes critical social work to bring a range of perspectives to what constitutes truly effective and ethical social work practice moving beyond binary oppositions where two states or concepts are defined as opposite to each other to create new words and concepts to be inclusive of a range of identities practice contexts and groups or communities of service users Currently critical social work derived from sociological critical theories proliferated in the 1960s enjoys dominance as the theory that encompasses the ethical principles of social work in Australia While on the surface critical social work appears to align with the Australian Association of Social Workers AASW ethical principles of social justice professional integrity and respect for persons practitioners and students alike find enacting it can be problematic in complex practice situations Reporting original research of cases from the field the book focuses on the impact of intersectionality and shows new ways to address the nuance of othering and modern day colonialism It will be of interest to researchers practitioners and students who are keen to engage with the latest in the field of critical social work and consider implications of this for the development of their own identity

Issues of Contemporary Art and Aesthetics in Chinese Context Eva Kit Wah Man, 2015-08-17 This book discusses how China's transformations in the last century have shaped its arts and its philosophical aesthetics For instance how have political economic and cultural changes shaped its aesthetic developments Further how have its long standing beliefs and traditions clashed with modernizing desires and forces and how have these changes materialized in artistic manifestations In addition to answering these questions this book also brings Chinese philosophical concepts on aesthetics into dialogue with those of the West making an important contribution to the fields of art comparative aesthetics and philosophy

The Oxford Handbook of Leadership and Organizations David V. Contextualizing Entrepreneurship Theory Ted Baker, Friederike Welter, 2020-02-13 As the breadth and empirical diversity of entrepreneurship research have increased rapidly during the last decade the quest to find a one size fits all general theory of entrepreneurship has given way to a growing appreciation for the importance of contexts This promises to improve both the practical relevance and the theoretical rigor of research in this field Entrepreneurship means different things to different people at different times and in different places and both its causes and its consequences likewise vary For example for some people entrepreneurship can be a glorious path to emancipation while for others it can represent the yoke tethering them to the burdens of overwork and drudgery For some communities it can drive renaissance and vibrancy while for others it allows only bare survival In this book we assess and attempt to push forward contemporary conceptualizations of contexts that matter for entrepreneurship pointing in particular to opportunities generating new insights by attending to contexts in novel or underexplored ways This book shows that the ongoing contextualization of entrepreneurship research should not simply generate a proliferation of unique theories one for every context but can instead result in better theory construction testing and understanding of boundary conditions thereby leading us to richer and more profound understanding of entrepreneurship across its many forms

Contextualizing Entrepreneurship Theory will critically review the current debate and existing literature on contexts and entrepreneurship and use this to synthesize new theoretical and methodological frameworks that point to important directions for future research

Taking Offence on Social Media Caroline Tagg, Philip Seargeant, Amy Aisha Brown, 2017-08-04 This book explores communication on Facebook developing the new theoretical concept of context design as a way of understanding the dynamics of online interaction Against a backdrop of fake news and other controversies surrounding online political debate the authors focus on inadvertent acts of offence on Facebook that is when users of the site unwittingly offend or are offended by the airing of political or religious views or of opinions deemed racist or sexist Drawing on a survey of Facebook users they explain why instances of offence occur and what users report doing in response They argue that Facebook users contribute to the construction of a particular social space one that is characterised by online conviviality and a belief that Facebook is not the place for serious debate These views in turn shape the kind of political debate that can take place on the site This thought provoking book will appeal to scholars and students of applied linguistics and anyone interested in the role of social media in contemporary political and social life

Reconsidering Context in Language Assessment Janna Fox, Natasha Artemeva, 2022-04-06 This volume reconsiders the problem of context in language testing and other modes of assessment from the perspective of transdisciplinarity Transdisciplinary assessment research brings together collaborators who draw on the strengths of their differing backgrounds and expertise in order to address high stakes complex socially relevant problems Traditional treatments of context in language assessment research have generally been informed by individualist cognitive theories within measurement and psychometrics The additive potential of alternative social theories including theories of genre situated learning distributed cognition and intercultural communication has largely been overlooked In this book the benefits of socio theoretical reconsiderations of context are discussed and further exemplified in transdisciplinary research studies that investigate the use of assessment in classroom and workplace settings The book offers a renewed view of context in arguments for the validity of assessment practices and will be of interest to assessment researchers practitioners and students in applied linguistics education educational psychology language testing and other related disciplines and fields

Text, Role and Context Ann M. Johns, 1997-06-13 This text explores fundamental issues relating to student literacies and instructor roles and practices within academic contexts It offers a brief history of literacy theories and argues for socioliterate approaches to teaching and learning in which texts are viewed as primarily socially constructed Central to socioliteracy the concepts genre and discourse community are presented in detail The author argues for roles for literacy practitioners in which they and their students conduct research and are involved in joint pedagogical endeavors The final chapters are devoted to outlining how the views presented can be applied to a variety of classroom texts Core curricular design principles are outlined and three types of portfolio based academic literacy classrooms are described

Castro Saucedo,Fernando Bruno,César Arnulfo De León Alvarado,2023-08-25 This book takes a new critical and multidisciplinary look at experiences and meanings of social intervention in different social contexts taking the approaches of social constructionism as a theoretical approach The volume collects the results of theoretical practical experiences that social science professionals with critical and constructionist visions linked to social work intervention have carried out in different spaces It considers the way social work intervention models are built their foundation and their application It provides the findings on tested intervention models built according to the basis of social constructionism in specific social scenarios providing interesting findings that show intervention alternatives beyond traditional approaches The social intervention strategies discussed take place in diverse situations including health recovery and reconstruction in breast cancer family abandonment issues of institutionalized adolescents institutional care of refugee families women caregivers of children with disabilities men who exercise violence and more Migration and Social Pathways Anna Gühlich,2017-10-02

The landscape of European migration has changed considerably over the past decades in particular after the fall of the iron curtain and again after the EU enlargement to the east The author researches the phenomenon of highly qualified migration using the example of migration between the Czech Republic and Germany The book reveals diverse strategies migrants use to respond to the possible de valuation of their qualification e g by making use of their language skills starting new studies or using transnational knowledge Communication at A Distance David S. Kaufer,Kathleen M. Carley,2012-10-12 This book bridges an important gap between two major approaches to mass communication historical and social scientific To do so it employs a theory of communication that unifies social cultural and technological concerns into a systematic and formal framework that is then used to examine the impact of print within the larger socio cultural context and across multiple historical contexts The authors integrate historical studies and more abstract formal representations achieving a set of logically coherent and well delimited hypotheses that invite further exploration both historically and experimentally A second gap that the book addresses is in the area of formal models of communication and diffusion. Such models typically assume a homogeneous population and a communication whose message is abstracted from the complexities of language processing. In contrast, the model presented in this book treats the population as heterogeneous and communications as potentially variable in their content as they move across speakers or readers. Written to address and overcome many of the disciplinary divisions that have prevented the study of print from being approached from the perspective of a unified theory, this book employs a focused interdisciplinary position that encompasses several domains. It shows the underlying compatibility between cognitive and social theory between the study of language and cognition and the study of technology between the postmodern interest in the instability of meaning and the social science interest in the diffusion of information between the effects of technology and issues of cultural homogeneity and heterogeneity. Overall, this book reveals how small, relatively non-interactive disciplinary specific conversations about print are usefully conceived of as part of a larger interdisciplinary inquiry.

Practicing Therapy as Social Construction Sheila McNamee, Emerson F. Raser, Pedro Martins, 2022-11-23. This book is a comprehensive introduction to social constructionist ideas and their application within the psychological therapies. Whether you are a trainee or qualified therapist, this book will support you to think about therapy as a socially constructed and relational process and to develop as a more culturally, socially, and politically aware practitioner. It advocates for therapist activists who understand the interplay between the micro and the macro in therapeutic contexts and debunks the idea of the isolated client to examine how broader societal conditions create problems for the individual. Chapters are designed to engage, offering a variety of features to support learning, including: Introductory and concluding chapter summaries; Textboxes summarising content, spotlighting key information; Case studies and vignettes throughout; Reflective questions; thought-provoking exercises; Recommended Further Reading. This book has wide applicability with author affiliations across both North and South America, the University of New Hampshire in the US.

and the Federal University of Uberlandia in Brazil
