HEART OF DANGER

By Howard Pease

Here is a new adventure of Ted Moran, hero of The Iron Ship, The Black Panther, and other well-known boys' books.

The setting is France—mainly Paris, during and after the end of World War II. Ted's mission was of worldwide importance and was the most dangerous adventure of his exciting career. For Ted's companion, Rudy Behrens, talented young violinist-composer, it was a chance to fulfill his heritage.

From the dark night when they left the drabby to board a fishing smack that brought them to a well-kept rendezvous in Brittany, Ted's and Rudy's journey unfolded in parts. They met and worked with the wonderful French Underground through Henri, who asked his life to help them, through Jacques, who taught them to act boldly in "the heart of danger," through Madame Morvan, who sheltered them under the nose of the enemy, and through many other Frenchmen who helped them keep their appointment with the mysterious "X-1" in Paris.

This is a story telling and most intense in the best French tradition. And in the story of Rudy's problem as a young person, taught in a towering personal conflict, there is the inspiring triumph of the individual over almost overwhelming forces.
