Tales Out Of School:

Tales Out of School Roger White, David Brockington, 2024-11-01 Originally published in 1983 reissued here with a new preface Tales Out of School presents the experience of seventy young people from different parts of the country most of whom left school at sixteen and are now either in work unemployed or in the twilight world of the Youth Opportunities Programme Through a series of interviews they reflect upon their eleven years of compulsory schooling and the preparation it gave for the world of work offer their comments and criticize the school institution and processes Many of them have experienced long periods of unemployment and their perceptions of the relationship between school and adult life are both revealing and thought provoking The second part of the book initiates a dialogue between pupils and the Establishment by presenting responses to the young people's comments from well known adults who were at the time specialists in particular educational fields and who were in a position to have some influence on practice and policy This unique juxtaposition of the views of both consumers and enablers provides the basis of a valuable and exciting debate Today it can be read in its historical context

Tales out of School Linda Marie Arbour, 2011-04-29 Tales Out of School presents a memoir offering a critical examination of the culture that exists with an analysis of the unconscious and theoretical dimensions of this psychological and sociological agenda Author Linda Arbour reflects upon her experience as student teacher and administrator in the multi racial multi ethnic public secondary Catholic schools of Toronto Ontario Arbour insists that these schools exist to transmit the counter cultural values of Jesus values of equality and inclusion where power is used to enhance the growth and flourishing of everyone not merely to duplicate the secular norms of social upward mobility and individual status Even so as viewed through the lens of a newly recognized social Catholic tradition she describes the cultural impasse she encountered while trying to realize these values Within the structure of the Catholic school system she discovered a morass of traditional male privilege and cronyism and a professional culture hostile to the flourishing of women as well as of teachers in general She challenges future teachers and administrators to gain a heightened awareness in order to address these concerns within the context of the gospel by imagining a culture that emphasizes a concern for the most disciplined and talented students

Tales Out of School David Silver, 1995 Move over Victor Mollo and David Bird Fans of the Hideous Hog the Abbot and the Rabbi will find a new hero among the halls of Mohican College the last of the community colleges to be established Tales out of School is a collection of humorous bridge stories from the witty and satirical pen of David Silver It will delight readers with the adventures of his alter ego the hapless Professor Silver as he struggles towards his own version of excellence despite a malevolent and incompetent administration and a D grade student body And as with Mollo and Bird Silver's selection of fascinating bridge hands makes his stories even more enjoyable If you enjoyed A Study in Silver you will love this one too David Silver For more than twenty years David Silver's wickedly witty bridge writings have appeared in the pages of such publications as The New York Times the ACBL Bulletin The Kibitzer and Canadian Master Point A retired
