

A photograph of four young women standing outdoors in a wooded area. They are all smoking. The woman on the far left is in profile, wearing a red and white floral top. The woman next to her is also in profile, wearing a black and white floral top. The woman in the center is facing forward, wearing a dark top, and has her hand raised near her face. The woman on the far right is in profile, smiling, wearing a light-colored top. The background shows trees and a stone path.

Decolonizing the Lens of Power Kerstin Knopf, 2008 This is the first book that comprehensively examines Indigenous filmmaking in North America as it analyzes in detail a variety of representative films by Canadian and US American Indigenous filmmakers two films that contextualize the oral tradition three short films and four dramatic films The book explores how members of colonized groups use the medium of film as a means for cultural and political expression and thus enter the dominant colonial film discourse and create an answering discourse The theoretical framework is developed as an interdisciplinary approach combining postcolonialism Indigenous studies and film studies As Indigenous people are gradually taking control over the imagemaking process in the area of film and video they cease being studied and described objects and become subjects who create self controlled images of Indigenous cultures The book explores the translatability of Indigenous oral tradition into film touching upon the changes the cultural knowledge is subject to in this process including statements of Indigenous filmmakers on this issue It also asks whether or not there is a definite Indigenous film practice and whether filmmakers tend to dissociate their work from dominant classical filmmaking adapt to it or create new film forms and styles through converging classical film conventions and their conscious violation This approach presupposes that Indigenous filmmakers are constantly in some state of reaction to Western ethnographic filmmaking and to classical narrative filmmaking and its epitome the Hollywood narrative cinema The films analyzed are The Road Allowance People by Maria Campbell Itam Hakim Hopiit by Victor Masayesva Talker by Lloyd Martell Tenacity and Smoke Signals by Chris Eyre Overweight With Crooked Teeth and Honey Moccasin by Shelley Niro Big Bear by Gil Cardinal and Atanarjuat The Fast Runner by Zacharias Kunuk

Why Won't My Teenager Talk to Me? John Coleman, 2014-04-24 It's easier to be a brain surgeon than a really good parent No one finds it easy to be a parent of a teenager How strict or easy going should you be What is the best way to support a teenager who is pushing you away What do you do if homework is being ignored or if a young person is up half the night on the phone or internet How do you communicate with someone who seems not to be listening In this book international expert Oxford psychologist and father Dr John Coleman provides a new approach to parenting adolescents Why won't my teenager talk to me draws on ground breaking research relating to brain development sleep patterns in adolescence and communication to offer a valuable tool enabling parents and carers to become more effective and resilient during this stage Based on the author's long experience in running workshops for parents of teenagers the combination of practical advice and research evidence will give readers an invaluable guide to the adolescent stage of life. The book draws on the voices and experiences of a wide range of parents of teenagers. Talking and listening is at the heart of this book. Based on developing strategies for positive and respectful two way communication, Dr Coleman's revolutionary STAGE framework for parenting offers new insights and helps parents navigate the teenage years. Its aim is to improve relations between parents and teenagers as well as to help professionals in their work with families. It will appeal to all parents and carers of teenagers as well as to those in the fields of social work, counselling, health and education. Talking about Smoking Sarah Levene, B. Sanders, 2007. The books in the Talking About series are informative guides exploring issues that affect young people growing up. The straightforward text is supported by real life accounts and colour photography. This title discusses smoking. Two Minute Talks to Improve Psychological and Behavioral Health John F. Clabby, 2021-06-23. There are important books that focus a full effort on a painful emotion such as depression or panic. Frankly many troubled people do not directly present with such complaints. Instead they speak about marital stress, upset about making an oral presentation, dealing with a mean spirited co worker, poor nutritional habits, handling uncooperative children or early adolescents and domestic violence. They want practical guidance about those content areas as well. John F Clabby. Health professionals confronted with symptoms of mental and emotional distress often lack knowledge of how to respond to the situations that underlie them or feel unable to address them in time limited consultations. This can lead many to either adopt an empathetic listening approach which fails to address underlying causes effectively or avoid asking their patients and clients about their psychosocial lives at all. Two Minute Talks to Improve Psychological and Behavioral Health takes a unique approach to this common dilemma. It provides concise pragmatic and matter of fact advice which health professionals can use to effectively address the most common underlying causes of distress such as work family or relationship difficulties, poor nutritional habits, domestic violence and grief. Although firmly evidence based it avoids unnecessary detail to provide a practical reference which can either be read in its entirety or used as a quick reference of clear accessible advice and strategies that patients can put into use. It is an essential addition to the toolbox of all health professionals who want to provide effective responsive and empathetic care to their clients in time limited situations. This book will reveal to you talents and results you did not believe possible. It will re energize your approach to care and make it fun to talk with and get to know your patients from. Foreword by Kenneth Faist. Natural Healing Remedies Over 1,000 Natural Ways to Relieve Common Ailments, From Arthritis and Allergies to Diabetes, Osteoporosis, and More... , 2024-01-03
