The Games They Played Sports In American History 1865198:

The Games They Played Richard B. Lyttle, 1982-01-01 Examines archeological evidence that reveals how individual and team sports and games have been used for diversion since prehistory Ball, Bat, and Bishop Robert William Henderson, 2001 Step aside Abner Doubleday In this impeccably researched history Robert W Henderson uncovers the true origins not only of baseball but of a score of related sports involving hitting catching throwing or kicking a ball Henderson traces the origins of ball sports to religious rites in ancient Egypt where the ball perhaps a shrunken head represented a fertility symbol and opposing teams engaged in mock combat signifying the struggle of good against evil Centuries later pagan fertility rites featuring the ball were adapted by the Christian church as rituals symbolic of Easter and the Resurrection Court tennis was also firmly rooted in the church the earliest players being the bishops canons and clerics who played it in their cloistered courtyards Henderson overturns the popular belief that the game of racquets originated in the debtors prison on Fleet Street in the early nineteenth century He also notes that polo the most ancient of games played with stick and ball originated in Persia and migrated to China and India where it was eventually embraced by English imperialists Other sports discussed include football lawn tennis cricket and golf The most substantial portion of Henderson s study is devoted to the game of baseball Providing copious evidence of early forms of baseball played in England and the United States before 1829 he offers a meticulous account of the legerdemain by which Abner Doubleday the famous Civil War general came to be identified as the inventor in 1839 of a game that was already at least two centuries old The new foreword by Leonard Koppett affirms the significance of this classic work of sports history which was the first to dismantle the Doubleday Cooperstown myth American Sports (1785-1835) Jennie Holliman, 1931
