The Garden History Of Devon An Illustrated Guide To Sources:

The Garden History of Devon Todd Gray, 1995 The Garden History of Devon is a reference guide to historical sources for over 200 Devon gardens. It also provides an introduction for would be garden historians on how to conduct garden research. The book is the result of an exploration of the archival resources of Devon's garden history, the objective being to provide signposts to research material for those interested in the development of Devon's gardens. The entries arranged alphabetically begin with a brief section describing each garden's history amplified by quotations from contemporary travellers and diarists. Following the descriptive sections are listings of documents, printed sources and illustrations relating to each garden. The greater part of this material is unknown to garden historians.

The Devon Gardens Guide Rosemary Lauder, 2004 A comprehensive visitor's guide to some 130 gardens in Devon. Illustrated with colour photographs it includes a general introduction to the geology, climate and garden history of Devon, a list of nurseries and garden centres in the county and a calendar of opening times. It is suitable for garden lovers, whether visitors to the county or locals.

In Praise of Devon John Lane, 1998 In Praise of Devon is an evocation of the unique character of the county and its people. John Lane eloquently describes Devon's rivers, coastline and moors, its towns, villages and buildings, its beautiful images and objects, traditions and occupations from Dartmoor to Devonshire dialect, Church Bells to Cream Teas, Honiton Lace to Holy Wells and gives intimate sketches of the lives and values of twenty Devonians including farmers, a trawlerman, a doctor, a cook, the sculptor Peter Randall Page, potter Clive Bowen and scientist James Lovelock. The text is complemented by 140 colour plates, photographs, engravings and old master paintings of the Devon countryside.

Topographical Writers in South-West England Mark Brayshay, 1996 A collection of essays concerned with topographical writers who published work on the west country between c 1600 and 1900. It provides an assessment of some famous writers such as Leland, a guide to the sources for the west Country and an analysis of the development of the genre.

Seeds of Fortune Sue Shephard, 2012-11-05 For over a century and across five generations the Veitch family pioneered the introduction of hundreds of new plants into gardens, conservatories and houses and were amongst the foremost European cultivators and hybridisers of their day. The story begins in 1768 when a Scotsman called John Veitch came to England to find his fortune, starting out as a gardener for the aristocracy. Realising that horticultural mania had begun to spread throughout the social classes, John's son James opened a nursery in Exeter and began to send some of the first commercial plant collectors into the Americas, Australia, India, Japan, China and the South Seas. By the beginning of the twentieth century the Veitch's had become key figures within the gardening establishment, involved with the Royal Horticultural Society from its beginnings and the great Chelsea Flower Show. Combining an historian's eye for detail with a flair for storytelling, Shephard charts the fortunes of one family and through them tells the fascinating story of the modern English garden.

Rowe, 2002 These two sets of little known notes recorded first hand by 19th century antiquaries underpin our understanding of how these structures developed into the buildings we see today These manuscript notes on Cornish churches contain much previously unknown material and were compiled by three 19th century antiquaries The brothers Daniel and Samuel Lysons toured the county from 1805-11 working towards the publication of the Cornish volume of their series Magna Britannia Sir Stephen Glynne 9th Bt of Hawarden had a passion for recording church architecture travelling widely around the UK and the continent Presented here for the first time the two sets of notes neatly complement each other the Lysons focusing on notable features in the churches while Glynne's form clear architectonic descriptions An Introduction uncovers the working methods of these men and their roles in understanding architectural descriptions and ecclesiology The text is also supplemented by further archival research which shows how these structures have evolved between the nineteenth century and today Parishes A-L are covered in this volume with M-Z to be published subsequently
