Scripting Middle East Leaders Sir Lawrence Freedman, Jeffrey Michaels, 2012-12-20 Both the US and the UK seemed caught off guard by the uprisings in Libya and Egypt and policymakers had to deal with leaders that switched from being allies to pariahs This collection of essays written by leading scholars examines the evolution of British and American perceptions of adversaries in the Middle East since the Cold War It traces the evolution of how leaders have been perceived what determined such perceptions and how they can change over time It shows that in many cases the beliefs held by policymakers have influenced their policies and the way they adapted during crisis Each essay focuses on a Middle East leader such as Nasser Assad Hussein or Ahmadinejad discussing what these leaders objectives were perceived to be the assessments of their willingness to take risks or negotiate and how such assessments changed overtime and were evaluated in retrospect This groundbreaking contribution to the literature on leadership attitudes and perceptions in policymaking toward the Middle East will appeal to anyone studying foreign policy Middle East politics and political psychology nuclear dispute and describes the major instruments behind Iran's foreign efforts. Independence without Freedom will serve as a crucial resource for anyone interested in the factors and forces that drive Iranian behavior in world politics. Iran's Relation With Pakistan Dr. Satyanarayan Pattanayak, 2011-08-17 Both Iran and Pakistan represent two distinct patterns of political systems and navigating their relationship is a very difficult task indeed. However, new developments between them in recent years have created salutary interest among scholars of international relations to focus on their long-term relationship. This book focuses on various facets of this relationship in a long-term perspective by analyzing them under various phases. The period from 1947 to 2010 has been chosen to analyse this relationship particularly from an Iranian angle in the context of different ruling systems such as monarchy and theocracy so as to understand the overall state pattern of Iranian foreign policy. The book traces the Iranian independence in a modern state system, the entire gamut of Iranian foreign policy towards Pakistan followed under a monarchical system, an analysis of the relationship of the Islamic Republic of Iran with Pakistan from 1979 to 1989, an in-depth study that covers the period from 1990 till the current regime to understand the tone and tenor of a modified theocratic foreign policy pursued under various Iranian Presidents and its approach towards Pakistan, and finally leading on to a total assessment of the relationship between the two states with some fresh and prognostic thoughts.

Revolution and its Discontents Eskandar Sadeghi-Boroujerdi, 2019-02-21 The death of the Islamic Republic's revolutionary patriarch Ayatollah Khomeini, the bitter denouement of the Iran-Iraq War, and the marginalisation of leading factions within the political elite in tandem with the end of the Cold War harboured immense intellectual and political repercussions for the Iranian state and society. It was these events which created the conditions for the emergence of Iran's post-revolutionary reform movement as its intellectuals and political leaders sought to re-evaluate the foundations of the Islamic state's political legitimacy and religious authority. In this monograph, Sadeghi-Boroujerdi examines the rise and evolution of reformist political thought in Iran and analyses the complex network of publications, study circles, and think tanks that encompassed a range of prominent politicians and intellectuals in the 1990s. In his meticulous account of the relationships between the post-revolutionary political class and intelligentsia, he explores a panoply of political and ideological issues still vital to understanding Iran's revolutionary state, such as the ruling political theology of the Guardianship of the Jurist, the political elite's engagement with questions of Islamic statehood, democracy, and constitutionalism, and their critiques of revolutionary agency and social transformation. Iran and the International System Anoushiravan Ehteshami, Reza Molavi, 2012-03-29 Much attention in the West has focused on Iran as a problem country. This book challenges the representations of Iran as a hostile regional power led by ideologues and goes further by discussing how international relations are viewed from inside Iran itself, outlining the factors which underpin Iranian thinking on international relations and considering what role Iran as a large and significant country in the Middle East ought to play in a fairly constructed international system. The book is written by leading scholars and policy makers from inside as well as from outside Iran and includes academics with unparalleled access and insights into the world views of the Iranian leadership Subjects covered include the rationale of Iran's Islamic constitution including its electoral system and the impact this has on international relations Iran's view of the ideal international system including the place therein of ethics justice and security Iran's international interests including energy needs and relations with the West including the clash between Iranian and Western views of the world order

Creative Conformity Elizabeth M. Bucar, 2011-02-15 Much feminist scholarship has viewed Catholicism and Shi'i Islam as two religious traditions that historically have greeted feminist claims with skepticism or outright hostility Creative Conformity demonstrates how certain liberal secular assumptions about these religious traditions are only partly correct and more importantly misleading In this highly original study Elizabeth Bucar compares the feminist politics of eleven US Catholic and Iranian Shi'i women and explores how these women contest and affirm clerical mandates in order to expand their roles within their religious communities and national politics Using scriptural analysis and personal interviews Creative Conformity demonstrates how women contribute to the production of ethical knowledge within both religious communities in order to expand what counts as feminist action and to explain how religious authority creates an unintended diversity of moral belief and action Bucar finds that the practices of Catholic and Shi'a women are not only determined by but also contribute to the ethical and political landscape in their respective religious communities She challenges the orthodoxies of liberal feminist politics and ultimately strengthens feminism as a scholarly endeavor

Which Path to Persia? Kenneth M. Pollack, Daniel L. Byman, Martin S. Indyk, 2009-10-01 Crafting a new policy toward Iran is a complicated uncertain and perilous challenge Since it is an extremely complex society with an opaque political system it is no wonder that the United States has not yet figured out the puzzle that is Iran With the clock ticking on Iran's pursuit of nuclear capabilities solving this puzzle is more urgent than ever In Which Path to Persia a group of experts with the Saban Center for Middle East Policy at Brookings lays out the courses of action available to the United States What are the benefits and drawbacks of airstrikes Can engagement be successful Is regime change possible In answering such questions the authors do not argue for one approach over another Instead they present the details of the policies so that readers can understand the complexity of the challenge and decide for themselves which course the United States should take

Words, Not Swords Farzaneh Milani, 2011-05-16 A woman not only needs a room of her own as Virginia Woolf wrote but also the freedom to leave it and return to it at will for a room without that right becomes a prison cell The privilege of self directed movement the power to pick up and go as one pleases has not been a traditional right of Iranian women This prerogative has been denied them in the name of piety anatomy chastity class safety and even beauty It is only during the last 160 years that the spell has been broken and Iranian women have emerged as a moderating modernizing force Women writers have been at the forefront of this desegregating movement and renegotiation of boundaries Words Not Swords explores the legacy of sex segregation and its manifestations in Iranian literature and film and in notions of beauty and the erotics of passivity Milani expands her argument beyond Iranian culture arguing that freedom of movement is a theme that crosses frontiers and dissolves conventional distinctions of geography history and religion She makes bold connections between veiling and foot binding between Cinderella and Barbie between the figures of the female Gypsy and the witch In so doing she challenges cultural hierarchies that divert attention from key issues in the control of women across the globe On the Arab Revolts and the Iranian Revolution Arshin Adib-Moghaddam, 2013-10-10 On the Arab Revolts and the Iranian Revolution Power and Resistance Today is the first comparative analysis of two central political events that have altered our world forever the Arab uprisings which started in Tunisia and the Iranian revolution in 1979 Adib Moghaddam demonstrates how contemporary forms of protest are changing our understanding about the way power and resistance function In a theoretical tour de force which is substantiated with a range of primary material he argues that acts of protest in Tehran to Cairo can be entirely linked to the same act in New York London Madrid and Athens Breaking through the east west north south divide Adib Moghaddam shows how the Arab revolts promise to shift the discourse away from the idea that Arabs and Muslims are peculiar that Middle Eastern Studies cannot be linked to political theory that the dynamics of rebellion there are fundamentally different from the politics of revolt here Adib Moghaddam argues that the dialectics of power and resistance are truly universal and that they are unfolding within a globalised political context that is increasingly interconnected In order to illuminate this argument theoretically the study is organised around conceptual terms that feed into forms of power and resistance such as revolution radicalism dissent knowledge neighbour and reform These terms and concepts are discussed and deconstructed via an empirical discussion of pivotal events beyond the non western world demonstrating that for a long time and without realising it we have been living in the end times of unitary categories such as west and east
