Washington Irving's Tales of the Supernatural Washington Irving, 1982-01-01

Washington Irving: Bracebridge Hall, Tales of a Traveller, The Alhambra (LOA #52) Washington Irving, 1991-03-01 This second Library of America volume of Washington Irving brings together for the first time three collections of his stories and sketches. Written at the peak of his popularity, these three works reveal Irving's remarkable diversity, his skill at adapting European legends to his own style, and the talent for entertainment that made him America's first literary celebrity. Bracebridge Hall (1822) was published like The Sketch Book under the pseudonym Geoffrey Crayon and centers on an English manor, its inhabitants, and the tales they tell. Interspersed with witty, evocative sketches of country life among the English nobility is the well-known tale The Stout Gentleman and stories based on English, French, and Spanish folklore vividly recounted with Irving's inimitable blend of elegance and colloquial dash. Tales of a Traveller (1824), written after a year-long stay in Germany, is a pivotal work in Irving's career, marking his last experiment with fiction before he turned to the writing of history, biography, and adaptation of folktales. Irving felt his new stories to be some of the best things he has ever written. They may not be as highly finished as some of his former writings, but they are touched off with a freer spirit and are more true to life. The Alhambra (1832) was inspired by Irving's stay during the spring and summer of 1829 at the ancient Moorish palace in Granada, which he called one of the most remarkable, romantic, and delicious spots in the world. This rich compendium of tales, deftly interwoven with historical accounts and picturesque sketches, was assembled from Spanish and Moorish folklore, history, guidebooks, and anecdotes of Irving's experiences among the local residents.
