Tales We Tell Perspectives On The Short Story:

The Tales We Tell Barbara Lounsberry, 1998-06-30 The 1990s have seen a renaissance in short fiction studies This book brings together the opinions theories and research of many of today s best known short story writers theorists and critics It includes essays by leading authors such as Joyce Carol Oates John Barth Robert Coover Leslie Marmon Silko Barry Hannah Gay Talese and W P Kinsella who reflect on the writing process The volume traces the origins of the short story back to Chaucer and follows the development of the form through today s hyper stories created interactively in cyberspace The broad scope of the book covers short stories from around the world including those from Africa Australia Great Britain Canada New Zealand and the United States

The Short Story Ailsa Cox, 2009-03-26 Long regarded as an undervalued and marginalised genre the short story is undergoing a renaissance The Short Story celebrates its unique appeal Practitioners and scholars address the issues facing short story criticism in the 21st century Author A L Kennedy shares the pleasures and frustrations of writing the short story in the literary marketplace This is followed by an assessment of recent attempts to promote short story readership in the UK Other contributors look at forms such as the short short and the short story sequence The range of authors discussed includes Martin Amis Anita Desai Salman Rushdie and James Joyce The short story is the most international of genres this is reflected in chapters on Jorge Luis Borges and Italo Calvino and on Japanese short fiction Postcolonial and translation theory are combined with the close reading of specific texts Neglected authors such as the Welsh writer Dorothy Edwards and the colonial figure Frank Swettenham are re evaluated and we also consider genre writing with chapters on crime fiction and Ray Bradbury s Martian Chronicles Integrating theory and practice The Short Story will appeal both to writers and to students of literary criticism

Short Story Theories , 2015-06-29 Short Story Theories A Twenty First Century Perspective problematizes different aspects of the renewal and development of the short story The aim of this collection is to explore the most recent theoretical issues raised by the short story as a genre and to offer theoretical and practical perspectives on the form Centering as it does on specific authors and on the wider implications of short story poetics this collection presents a new series of essays that both reinterpret canonical writers of the genre and advance new critical insights on the most recent trends and contemporary authors Theorizations about genre reflect on different aspects of the short story from a multiplicity of perspectives and take the form of historical and aesthetic considerations gender centered accounts and examinations that attend to reader response theory cognitive patterns sociolinguistics discourse analysis postcolonial studies postmodern techniques and contemporary uses of minimalist forms Looking ahead this collection traces the evolution of the short story from Chaucer through the Romantic writings of Poe to the postmodern developments and into the twenty first century This volume will prove of interest to scholars and graduate students working in the fields of the short story and of literature in general In addition the readability and analytical transparency of these essays make them accessible to a more general readership interested in fiction

The Art of

Sympathy in Fiction Howard Sklar, 2013 Focuses on the sympathetic effects of stories and the possible ways these feelings can contribute to what has been called the moral imagination This book examines the dynamics of readers beliefs regarding fictional characters and the influence of those impressions on the emotions that readers experience Wyndham Lewis the Radical Carmelo Cunchillos Jaime, 2007 This volume about the modernist writer and artist Wyndham Lewis 1882 1957 presents him as a radical figure in twentieth century modernism The authors rediscover aspects of Lewis s work which show how his fiction challenges modernist norms and how his acute and wide ranging critique of culture has a vital contemporary relevance Lewis s range is extraordinary it covers Nietzsche as well as classic cinema Renaissance art and English classicism Being politically conservative he had nonetheless a place on the political left and he can be seen as a postmodernist before his time These essays by leading Spanish and British specialists reveal Lewis as one of the key modernists of our time

Reading for Storyness Susan Lohafer, 2020-03-03 The short story has been a staple of American literature since the nineteenth century taught in virtually every high school and consistently popular among adult readers But what makes a short story unique In Reading for Storyness Susan Lohafer former president of the Society for the Study of the Short Story argues that there is much more than length separating short stories from novels and other works of fiction With its close readings of stories by Kate Chopin Julio Cortázar Katherine Mansfield and others this book challenges assumptions about the short story and effectively redefines the genre in a fresh and original way In her analysis Lohafer combines traditional literary theory with a more unconventional mode of research monitoring the reactions of readers as they progress through a story to establish a new poetics of the genre Singling out the phenomenon of imminent closure as the genre s defining trait she then proceeds to identify preclosure points or places where a given story could end in order to access hidden layers of the reading experience She expertly harnesses this theory of preclosure to explore interactions between pedagogy and theory formalism and cultural studies fiction and nonfiction Returning to the roots of storyness Lohafer illuminates the intricacies of classic short stories and experimental forms of surreal postmodern and minimalist fiction She also discusses the impact of social constructions such as gender on the identification of preclosure points by individual readers Reading for Storyness combines cognitive science with literary theory to present a compelling argument for the uniqueness of the short story Reframing the Black Atlantic Aretha Phiri, 2024-08-09 Commemorating the thirtieth anniversary of Paul Gilroy s seminal text The Black Atlantic Modernity and Double Consciousness this book offers fresh interpretations of established black Atlantic scholarship from the perspective of those typically elided from its ideological purview and existential narrative The application of queer and or feminist lenses in each essay attempts to mediate these elisions and to advance potentially transformative democratising readings of the black Atlantic from both complex and complicating African and diasporic viewpoints With the aim of realigning black Atlantic scholarship in this way the edited volume proposes an interventionist approach that is concerned with problematizing ethnic cultural universalisms and challenging geographic and gendered hierarchizations Underlining the importance of aesthetic and creative cultural archives Reframing the Black Atlantic s focus on transnational African diasporic literature and other intersecting popular cultural forms probes the imaginative limits and possibilities of the black Atlantic conventionally conceived To this end this book intends not just to complicate and enhance established views of black Africa inviting the reader to locate and perceive black life lived otherwise it points towards more inclusive and expansive global understandings and visions of blackness This volume will be of particular use to researchers and students in the fields of race gender diaspora transnational literary and cultural studies The chapters of this book were originally published in Cultural Studies

The Short Story in South

Africa Rebecca Fasselt, Corinne Sandwith, 2022-03-24 This book considers the key critical interventions on short story writing in South Africa written in English since the year 2000 The short story genre whilst often marginalised in national literary canons has been central to the trajectory of literary history in South Africa In recent years the short story has undergone a significant renaissance with new collections and young writers making a significant impact on the contemporary literary scene and subgenres such as speculative fiction erotic fiction flash fiction and queer fiction expanding rapidly in popularity This book examines the role of the short story genre in reflecting or championing new developments in South African writing and the ways in which traditional boundaries and definitions of the short story in South Africa have been reimagined in the present Drawing together a range of critical interventions including scholarly articles interviews and personal reflective pieces the volume traces some of the aesthetic and thematic continuities and discontinuities in the genre and sheds new light on questions of literary form Finally the book considers the place of the short story in twenty first century writing and interrogates the ways in which the short story form may contribute to or recast ideas of the post apartheid or post transitional The perfect guide to contemporary short story writing in South Africa this book will be essential reading for researchers of African literature

Salman Rushdie and Translation Jenni Ramone, 2013-09-12 Salman Rushdie's writing is engaged with translation in many ways translator figures tell and retell stories in his novels while acts of translation are catalysts for climactic events Covering his major novels as well as his often neglected short stories and writing for children Salman Rushdie and Translation explores the role of translation in Rushdie's work In this book Jenni Ramone draws on contemporary translation theory to analyse the part translation plays in Rushdie's appropriation of historical and contemporary Indian narratives of independence and migration

Seeing Perception Silke Horstkotte, Karin Leonhard, 2021-02-19 What do we see when we see how do we perceive vision itself and how do we speak and write about seeing and perception The articles collected in this volume attempt to observe the constitution of perception be it of a visual field or visible objects but also of images which emerge in the mind e g that of the reader in the act of reading The act of vision is profoundly impure and seeing very much entails other modes of sense based perception such as listening touching feeling tasting or smelling Various modes of seeing can moreover be observed within literary texts or in music dreams memory or all kinds of bodily experiences like dance pain sexuality etc so that there cannot be any such thing as a clearly defined realm called visibility Moreover seer and seen are mutually permeable in any visual practice reflecting on the reciprocal relationship between the visibility of objects and the very act of looking which could be understood not only as a sensual experience but also as an interaction an intellectual performance and interpretation But if there exists this inseparable bond between object and spectator how can we distance ourselves from the act of looking and show seeing how is it possible to talk and write about seeing perception The impurity of the visual and the contextuality of all acts of looking constitutes a common thread running through the articles collected in this volume The ways in which images are perceived in

Western culture are inextricably linked with verbal and textual structures and ways of thinking However the contributions in this volume are less concerned with the practical political implications of a visual culture which formed the backbone of visual studies research a few years ago and more with an adequate understanding of the various concepts and operations at work in theories of visual perception of seeing the gaze and of focalisation

Experiencing Irony in the First Gospel Karl McDaniel,2013-10-24 The Gospel of Matthew is both deliberately deceptive and emotionally compelling Karl McDaniel explores ways in which the narrative of the Gospel of Matthew elicits and develops the emotions of suspense surprise and curiosity within its readers While Matthew 1 21 invites readers to expect Jewish salvation progressive failure of the plot s main characters to meet Jesus salvation requirements creates increasing suspense for the reader How will Jesus save his people The commission to the Gentiles at the Gospel s conclusion provokes reader surprise and the resulting curiosity calls readers back to the narrative s beginning Upon rereading with a retrospective view readers discover that the Gentile mission was actually foreshadowed throughout the narrative even from its beginning and they are invited to partake in Jesus final commission
