The Floral Mother And Other Essays:

The Floral Mother and Other Essays Kate Llewellyn, 1995 The Cambridge Guide to Women's Writing in English Lorna Sage, 1999-09-30 This Guide aims to consolidate and epitomise the re-reading of women's writing that has gone on in the last twenty-five years. This is an opportunity for stock-taking a timely project when so much writing has been rediscovered, reclaimed and republished. There are entries on writers, on individual texts and on general terms, genres and movements, all printed in a single alphabetical sequence. The earliest written documents in medieval English, the visionary writings of Julian of Norwich and Margery Kempe, are covered in an historical and geographical sweep that takes us up to the present day. The book reflects the spread of literacy, the history of colonisation and the development of post-colonial cultures, using and changing the English language. The entries are written by contributors from all the countries covered. The result is a work of reference with a unique feeling for the vitality, wealth and diversity of women's writing. Texts and Textiles Diana Mary Eva Thomas, 2017-03-07 This study shows how fiction that makes use of textiles as an essential element utilizes synaesthetic writing and synaesthetic metaphor to create an affective link to and response in the reader. These links and responses are examined using affect theory from Silvan Tomkins and Brian Massumi and work on synaesthesia by Richard Cytowic, Lawrence Marks and V. S. Ramachandran among others. Synaesthetic writing, including synaesthetic metaphors, has been explored in poetry since the 1920s and more recently in fiction, but these studies have been general in nature. By narrowing the field of investigation to those novels that specifically employ three types of hand-crafted textiles: quilt-making, knitting and embroidery, the book isolates how these textiles are used in fiction. The combination of synaesthesia, memory, metaphor and particularly synaesthetic metaphor in fiction with textiles in the text of the case studies selected shows how these are used to create affect in readers, enhancing their engagement in the story. The work is framed within the context of the history of textile production and the use of textiles in fiction internationally, but concentrates on Australian authors who have used textiles in their writing. The decision to focus on Australian authors was taken in light of the quality and depth of the writing of textile fiction produced in Australia between 1980 and 2005 in the three categories of hand-crafted textiles: quilt-making, knitting and embroidery. The texts chosen for intensive study are Kate Grenville's The Idea of Perfection 1999 (quilt-making), Marele Day's Lambs of God 1997 (knitting) and Anne Bartlett's Knitting 2005 (knitting). Jessica Anderson's Tirra Lirra by the River 1978 (embroidery) and Marion Halligan's Spider Cup 1990 (embroidery). Harbour Kate Llewellyn, 2020-01-31 Art is always like this. Mysterious as light. Quiet and insightful, raw in its simplicity, this collection of poems from iconic Australian poet Kate Llewellyn, written between the years of 2000 to 2019, examines a life well-lived, dipping in and out of memory to tell a tale of small moments and the wisdom of growing old. In the poem Harbour, she touches on what is lost and gained in growing up. The Big Nothing draws readers along on a journey to view the world through another's eyes, and What They Said brings forth a cacophony of voices, opinions and dreams across a lifetime. Moving, profound and often joyful, this collection is a must-have.
