Karl Marx's Theory of Revolution Vol V Hal Draper, Ernest Haberkern, 2010-01-01 Marx and Engels views on war revolution and the relation between the two evolved over time in response to the turbulent political and military history of the nineteenth century The result has been widespread confusion among historians and in the socialist movement The tendency has been to search for quotes which will buttress the writer's own views and exhibit it as what Marx said This book tries to clear up the confusion and misrepresentation

Education of Cancer Healing Vol. V - Explorers Peter Havasi, Moltke and the German Wars, 1864-1871 Arden Bucholz, 2017-03-05 The Prussian army invented modern war processes and Helmuth von Moltke 1800-1891 was the first modern war planner His accomplishment was to develop, bring to fruition and validate the war processes invented during his lifetime In this book Bucholz examines Moltke's work and the processes he utilised in each of the three wars of German unification against Denmark 1864 Austria 1865 and France 1870-71 Moltke's achievements have become a legacy for modern military strategists The procedures he developed have been used in all of the wars of the twentieth century the Persian Gulf War of 1991 may be its most interesting example because they respond to the size, space, time and technology mandates of industrial mass warfare This book describes and analyzes these developments in a unique way by using organisational knowledge and learning theory by looking closely at Moltke's life as a professional soldier and by bringing little known research in the field
