England's Magnificent Gardens Roderick Floud,2021-06-15 An altogether different kind of book on English gardens the first of its kind a look at the history of England s magnificent gardens as a history of Britain itself from the seventeenth century gardens of Charles II to those of Prince Charles today In this rich revelatory history Sir Roderick Floud one of Britain s preeminent economic historians writes that gardens have been created in Britain since Roman times but that their true growth began in the seventeenth century by the eighteenth century nurseries in London took up 100 acres with ten million plants that were worth more than all of the nurseries in France combined Floud's book takes us through more than three centuries of English history as he writes of the kings queens and princes whose garden obsessions changed the landscape of England itself from Stuart Georgian and Victorian England to today's Windsor's Here are William and Mary who brought Dutch gardens and bulbs to Britain William who twice had his entire garden lowered in order to see the river from his apartments and his successor Queen Anne who like many others since vowed to spend little on her gardens and instead spent millions Floud also writes of Frederick Prince of Wales the founder of Kew Gardens who spent more than 40 000 on a single twenty five foot tulip tree for Carlton House Queen Victoria who built the largest most advanced and most efficient kitchen garden in Britain and Prince Charles who created and designed the gardens of Highgrove inspired by his boyhood memories of his grandmother's gardens We see Sarah Duchess of Marlborough who created a magnificent garden at Blenheim Palace only to tear it apart and build a greater one Deborah Duchess of Devonshire the savior of Chatsworth's 100 acre garden in the midst of its 35 000 acres and the gardens of lesser mortals among them Gertrude Jekyll and Vita Sackville West both notable garden designers and writers We see the designers of royal estates among them Henry Wise William Kent Humphrey Repton and the greatest of all English gardeners Capability Brown who created the 150 acre lake of Blenheim Palace earned millions annually and designed more than 170 parks many still in existence today We learn how gardening became a major catalyst for innovation central heating came from experiments to heat greenhouses with hot water pipes how the new iron industry of industrializing Britain supplied a myriad of tools mowers pumps and the boilers that heated the greenhouses and finally Floud explores how gardening became an enormous industry as well as an art form in Britain and by the nineteenth century was unrivaled anywhere in the world

Nineteenth-Century Gardens and Gardening Sarah Dewis, Brent Elliott, 2024-06-19 This volume is number one of a six volume collection that brings together primary sources on gardens and gardening across the long nineteenth century Economic expansion empire the growth of the middle classes and suburbia the changing role of women and the professionalisation of gardening alongside industrialisation and the development of leisure and mass markets were all elements that contributed to and were influenced by the evolution of gardens It is a subject that is both global and multidisciplinary and this set provides the reader with a variety of ways in which to read gardens through recognition of how they were conceived and experienced as they developed Material is primarily derived from Britain with Europe USA Australia India China and Japan also featuring and sources include the gardening press the broader press government papers book excerpts and some previously unpublished material Vulnerability and Resilience in English Literature of the Long 19th Century Raffaella Antinucci, Adrian Grafe, 2024-11-14 The nineteenth century was a time of accelerated change and stark contradictions It was marked by stability advancement and reform but also by widening inequalities spiritual crisis and social unrest Identity and gender came under pressure religious belief was called into question and the condition of women and children seemed to belie the much vaunted idea of progress Essays in this book explore how these contradictions and concerns are reflected in nineteenth century literature In discussing historical figures characters and plots that are variously vulnerable and or resilient the essays reflect the breadth of nineteenth century literature from realist and sensational fiction to autobiography and poetry Besides providing insights into the transfigurative role writing played both as a means to express vulnerability and as a resilience process the essays also foster further reflection on two timeless dimensions of the human condition
