Igbo Natufe,2011-11-08 Written by Soviet politics and international relations specialist Igbo Natufe Soviet Policy in Africa offers a critical analysis of Soviet and Western foreign policies that presents a balanced perspective on the understanding and evolution of Soviet ideology and politics Using on extensive research Natufe traces the evolution of Soviet foreign policy from 1917 through 1980 focusing on the ideological constructs of Vladimir Lenin the founder of the Soviet state through the contending interpretations of Joseph Stalin and finally to Nikita Khrushchev and Leonid Brezhnev He reveals how the Soviets continually used the tenets of Marxism Leninism for global issues even though their interpretations sometimes varied between individual leaders Natufe also shows how the Soviet government viewed post 1945 Europe as favorable to revolutionary tendencies particularly in the colonies Africa became a battleground between Eastern and Western ideologies and Soviet policies posed opportunities and threats to the continents independence movements In addition Natufe discusses China and the West as well as presenting case studies of Soviet foreign policy Scholars and students of international politics will find Soviet Policy in Africa a well researched thorough study of this often overlooked subject Eastern Europe, the Soviet Union, and Africa Chris Saunders,Helder Adegan Fonseca,Lena Dallywater,2023-04-27 It is now widely recognised that a Cold War perspective falls short in unfolding the complex geographies of connections and the multipolarity of actions and transactions that were shaped through the movement of individuals and ideas from Africa to the East and from the East to Africa in the decades in which African countries moved to independence Adopting an interdisciplinary transregional perspective this volume casts new light on aspects of the role of Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union in the decolonisation of Africa Taking further themes explored in a collection of essays published by the editors in 2019 the twelve case studies by authors from South Africa Czech Republic Portugal Russia Hungary Italy Canada Serbia and Germany draw on new sources to explore the history of the ties that existed between African liberation movements and the socialist bloc some of which continue to influence relationships today Chapters contribute to three relevant main themes that resonate in a number of scholarly fields of inquiry ranging from Global Studies Transregional Studies Cold War Studies Global History to African Studies Eastern European Russian and Slavic Studies Reconsiderations Resources and Reverberations Drawing upon newly opened archives and combining transregional perspectives with sources in different languages chapters explicitly point out the shortcomings of past research and debates in the respective field They highlight new avenues which have been developing and which need to be further developed Reconsiderations Selected case studies address the resources of those being active and involved in decolonisation processes be it in East North West and South They reveal Which resources both material and intellectual are the actors drawing upon On the other hand From which resources are individuals on one side or the other reciprocally or intermittently intentionally kept away Resources Finally the third theme puts an emphasis on the historicity of the processes depicted Studies point to the gaps and dead ends of international support the paths that peter out but also to repercussions and reverberations up until today Reverberations Taken these three themes together the individual chapters contribute to the overall question of Which general historical narratives about the second half of the 20th century are changing based on these new research findings

China and Africa David H. Shinn, Joshua Eisenman, 2012-07-10 The People's Republic of China once limited its involvement in African affairs to building an occasional railroad or port supporting African liberation movements and loudly proclaiming socialist solidarity with the downtrodden of the continent Now Chinese diplomats and Chinese companies both state owned and private along with an influx of Chinese workers have spread throughout Africa This shift is one of the most important geopolitical phenomena of our time China and Africa A Century of Engagement presents a comprehensive view of the relationship between this powerful Asian nation and the countries of Africa This book the first of its kind to be published since the 1970s examines all facets of China's relationship with each of the fifty four African nations It reviews the history of China's relations with the continent looking back past the establishment of the People's Republic of China in 1949 It looks at a broad range of areas that define this relationship politics trade investment foreign aid military security and culture providing a significant historical backdrop for each David H Shinn and Joshua Eisenman's study combines careful observation meticulous data analysis and detailed understanding gained through diplomatic experience and extensive travel in China and Africa China and Africa demonstrates that while China's connection to Africa is different from that of Western nations it is no less complex Africans and Chinese are still developing their perceptions of each other and these changing views have both positive and negative dimensions

The Soviet Union in the Third World Robert H. Donaldson, 2022-12-28 The Soviet Union in the Third World 1981 analyses Soviet objectives in the developing world the instruments of foreign policy employed and their success and failure the implications of Soviet foreign policy for the international system in general and the US foreign and defence policies in particular Twenty leading specialists examine Soviet involvement in Latin America Africa the Middle East and Asia and discuss the subject from both security and economic perspectives

Sino-Soviet Involvement in Sub-Saharan Africa Peter W. Colm, Karl F. Spielmann, 1977 China and the Soviet Union became involved in African affairs in the late 1950s and early 1960s as various African countries achieved independence and coincidentally as the Sino-Soviet split became increasingly bitter Sino-Soviet differences influenced particularly the ideological approach of each country to African issues but direct competition was often not the major determinant of Chinese and Soviet policy In the early period Moscow tended to emphasize grandiose aid projects for radical governments in Africa while Peking tended to stress assistance to African insurgencies often to the detriment of its diplomatic objectives With the fall of Khrushchev and the outbreak of the Cultural Revolution in China both Moscow and Peking curtailed their African involvement The current phase of Sino-Soviet involvement in Africa began in the early 1970s when Peking entered the UN and emerged from its Cultural Revolution isolationism China established or reestablished diplomatic relations with most African countries and initiated an economic aid program that became much more comprehensive than that of any other country Chinese policy was driven in part by its ideological aspiration to leadership in the Third World and in part by an effort to find allies against Soviet expansionism

Cold War in Southern Africa Sue Onslow, 2009-09-10 This edited volume examines the complexities of the Cold War in Southern Africa and uses a range of archives to develop a more detailed understanding of the impact of the Cold War environment upon the processes of political change In the aftermath of European decolonization the struggle between white minority governments and black liberation movements encouraged both sides to appeal for external support from the two superpower blocs Cold War in Southern Africa highlights the importance of the global ideological environment on the perceptions and consequent behaviour of the white minority regimes the Black Nationalist movements and the newly independent African nationalist governments Together they underline the variety of archival sources on the history of Southern Africa in the Cold War and its growing importance in Cold War Studies This volume brings together a series of essays by leading scholars based on a wide range of sources in the United States Russia Cuba Britain Zambia and South Africa By focussing on a range of independent actors these essays highlight the complexity of the conflict in Southern Africa a battle of power blocs of systems and ideas which intersected with notions and practices of race and class This book will appeal to students of cold war studies US foreign policy African politics and International History Sue Onslow has taught at the London School of Economics since 1994 She is currently a Cold War Studies Fellow in the Cold War Studies Centre IDEAS

Mao and the Sino-Soviet Split, 1959-1973 Danhui Li,Yafeng Xia,2018-09-15 In the twenty first century students of Cold War history are fortunate to have the fruits of several major works on the Sino Soviet split by European and American scholars What is lacking in English literature however is a book based on international documentation especially Chinese archival documents that tell the story from the Chinese perspective Based on archival materials from several countries particularly China and more than twenty years of research on the subject two prominent Chinese historians Danhui Li and Yafeng Xia offer a comprehensive look at the Sino Soviet split from 1959 when visible cracks appeared in the Sino Soviet alliance to 1973 when China s foreign policy changed from an alliance with the Soviet Union to oppose the United States to aligning with the United States to oppose the Soviet Union Mao and the Sino Soviet Split 1959 1973 A New History is a reevaluation of the history of the Sino Soviet split and offers the first comprehensive account of it from a Chinese perspective This book together with its prequel Mao and the Sino Soviet Partnership 1945 1959 A New History is important because any changes in Sino Soviet relations at the time affected and to a great extent determined the fate of the socialist bloc More importantly it directly impacted and transformed the international political situation during the Cold War These two books promise to be a reevaluation of the history of the Sino Soviet alliance from its birth to its demise These fascinating books will be a crucial resource for all those interested in the topic and will stand as the definitive work on the Sino Soviet alliance for years to come
