Managerial Accounting: Tools for Decision Making

QUESTIONS

- Q14.1. Financial accounting is interest based accounting system, and is concerned with general purpose financial statements. These financial accounting statements are highly aggregated, report on relatively long time periods, are subject based and thus, are not convenient for managerial decisions. These statements emphasize the sale of objective data.
- Management accounting is interest based accounting system, and is concerned with quantitative information. This information may be aggregated or disaggregated, depending on need, covering relatively short time periods, and thus, accounting can track. This information is interest primarily toward the future and thus not used to confirm to external standards. Consequently, this data may be subjective. If subjective information is allowed.
- Q14.2. Strategic cost management is a planning strategy through cost driver analysis, strategic cost/structure analysis, and value chain analysis.
- Q14.3. All organization's statements that have purpose based either to achieve or defend. Consequently, they relate to that purpose. If goal is a controlled, measurable objective, which can be used for organization's control.
- Q14.4. The three strategic problems that lead to structure demand and interdependency, product or service differentiation, cost focus on a market share. Cost structure intends something more to mean the competitive position of the firm. Product or service differentiation involves creating something completely unique and costs a premium price, cost focusing on a market price says that the firm can handle costs a market through market plan is being used.
