cases African Americans litigated in the highest courts of eight states they won more than half of their suits against whites throughout this period Litigating Across the Color Line shows that in a tremendously constrained environment where they were often shut out of other government institutions seen as racially inferior and often segregated African Americans found a way to fight for their rights in one of the only ways they could Through these suits they adapted and at times made a biased system work for them under enormous constraints At the same time Milewski considers the limitations of working within a white dominated system at a time of great racial discrimination and the choices black litigants had to make to get their cases heard
