In the Weeds Tom Vitale, 2021-10-05 Nominated for the 2022 BookTube Prize in Nonfiction Anthony Bourdain's long time director and producer takes readers behind the scenes to reveal the insanity of filming television in some of the most volatile places in the world and what it was like to work with a legend In the nearly two years since Anthony Bourdain's death no one else has come close to filling the void he left His passion for and genuine curiosity about the people and cultures he visited made the world feel smaller and more connected Despite his affable confident and trademark snarky TV persona the real Tony was intensely private deeply conflicted about his fame and an enigma even to those close to him Tony's devoted crew knew him best and no one else had a front row seat for as long as his director and producer Tom Vitale Over the course of more than a decade traveling together Tony became a boss a friend a hero and sometimes a tormentor In the Weeds takes readers behind the scenes to reveal not just the insanity that went into filming in some of the most far flung and volatile parts of the world but what Tony was like unedited and off camera From the outside the job looked like an all expenses paid adventure to places like Borneo Vietnam Iran the Democratic Republic of Congo and Libya What happened off camera was far more interesting than what made it to air The more things went wrong the better it was for the show Fortunately everything fell apart constantly

When Music Migrates Jon Stratton, 2016-02-17 When Music Migrates uses rich material to examine the ways that music has crossed racial faultlines that have developed in the post Second World War era as a consequence of the movement of previously colonized peoples to the countries that colonized them This development which can be thought of in terms of diaspora can also be thought of as postmodern in that it reverses the modern flow which took colonizers and sometimes settlers from European countries to other places in the world Stratton explores the concept of song careers referring to how a song is picked up and then transformed by being revisioned by different artists and in different cultural contexts The idea of the song career extends the descriptive term cover in order to examine the transformations a song undergoes from artist to artist and cultural context to cultural context Stratton focuses on the British faultline between the post war African Caribbean settlers and the white Britons Central to the book is the question of identity For example how African Caribbean people have constructed their identity in Britain can be considered through an examination of when Police on My Back was written and how it has been revisioned by Lethal Bizzle in its most recent iteration At the same time this song written by the Guyanese migrant Eddy Grant for his mixed race group The Equals crossed the racial faultline when it was picked up by the punk rock group The Clash Conversely Johnny Reggae originally a pop ska track written about a skinhead by Jonathan King and performed by a group of studio artists whom King named The Piglets was revisioned by a Jamaican studio group called The Roosevelt Singers After this the character of Johnny Reggae takes on a life of his own and appears in tracks by Jamaican toasters as a Rastafarian Johnny s identity is then totally transformed It is this migration of music that will appeal not only to those studying popular music but Constructing Crime C.
