Out of the Hay and Into the Hops Celia Cordle, 2011 Out of the Hay and into the Hops explores the history and development of hop cultivation in the Weald of Kent together with the marketing of this important crop in the Borough at Southwark where a significant proportion of Wealden hops were sold A picture emerges of the relationship between the two activities as well as of the impact this rural industry had upon the lives of the people engaged in it Dr Cordle draws extensively on personal accounts of hop work to evoke a way of life now lost for good Oral history together with evidence from farm books and other sources records how the steady routine of hop ploughing and dung spreading weeding and spraying contrasted with the bustle and excitement of hop picking bringing in as it did many itinerant workers from outside the community to help with the harvest and the anxious period of drying the crop For hops prey to the vagaries of weather and disease needed much care and attention to bring them to fruition In early times their cultivation provided work for more people than any other crop The diverse processes of hop cultivation are examined within the wider context of events such as the advent of rail and the effects of war as are changes to the working practices and technologies used and their reception and implementation in the Weald Meanwhile in the Borough an enclave of hop factors and merchants whose interests sometimes conflicted with those of the hop growers arose and then suffered decline A full account of this trade is presented including day to day working practices links with the Weald and the changes in hop marketing following Britain's entry into the European Economic Community This book provides readers with a fascinating analysis of some three hundred years of hop history in the Weald and the Borough Hops still grow in the Weald in the Borough the Le May facade and the gates of the Hop Exchange are reminders of former trade Book description
