Museums, International Exhibitions and China's Cultural Diplomacy Da Kong, 2021-03-31 Museums, International Exhibitions and China's Cultural Diplomacy examines the role museums and more specifically international exhibitions have played in shaping China's international image to date. Drawing on theories and methods from museum studies and international relations, the book evaluates the contribution international exhibitions make to China's cultural diplomacy strategy. Considering their impact on the country's international image, Kong also probes the mechanisms and processes involved in examining in detail the policy of and international activities promoted by the Chinese government. The book also analyses the motives of the Chinese and overseas museums that host these exhibitions. Taking some major exhibitions that were on show in the UK during the 21st century as a representative case study, the book reveals the mechanisms by which these exhibitions were developed and shared overseas. Questioning who really shapes the image of China, Kong challenges Western assumptions and looks ahead to consider whether moving forward the Chinese government and museums could work together in a mutually beneficial way. Museums International Exhibitions and China's Cultural Diplomacy contributes to the growing literature on museums and diplomacy. As such, it will be of interest to academics and students engaged in the study of museums and heritage, international relations, culture politics, China and wider Asia. Statues Buried Amelia Khatri, AI, 2025-02-12. Statues Buried explores the captivating stories behind sculptures intentionally buried or lost to time, later rediscovered through archaeology. It delves into why ancient civilizations concealed these artworks, revealing insights into their cultures, beliefs, and power dynamics. Motivations ranged from iconoclasm and religious upheaval to protecting statues during war, offering a unique perspective on historical events. For instance, the deliberate burial of statues often reflected political turmoil or shifts in religious dominance, providing tangible evidence of societal changes. The book examines the meticulous archaeological processes involved in unearthing these treasures, highlighting the challenges and ethical considerations of excavation. It showcases how rediscovering buried statues reshapes our understanding of the past by challenging conventional historical interpretations. The book unfolds by first examining the motives for statue burial, then detailing the archaeological processes and finally delving into the impact of these discoveries on art history and cultural heritage. Ultimately, the rediscovery of these statues serves as a potent act of historical recovery, connecting us to forgotten cultures.

Burial Secrets Linda Hill, AI, 2025-02-26. Burial Secrets unveils the hidden stories within ancient burial sites, arguing that these locations actively shape our understanding of history. Going beyond traditional accounts, the book explores how funerary practices and mortuary archaeology offer nuanced insights into past civilizations, their belief systems, and cultural identity. For example, the elaborate tombs of pharaohs reveal not just royal status but also intricate beliefs about the afterlife. The book examines the evolution of burial rituals, the impact of archaeological discoveries, and the role of funerary relics in shaping mythology. One intriguing fact is how the terracotta army of Qin Shi Huang revolutionized our understanding of ancient Chinese society Beginning with the principles of mortuary archaeology Burial Secrets progresses through diverse cultures and historical periods culminating in an exploration of how burial sites influence modern cultural identity Through a comparative approach and cutting edge scientific techniques this book reveals how burial sites are dynamic archives rather than static repositories By focusing on the agency of the dead the book provides a unique perspective making it invaluable to history enthusiasts and anyone seeking a deeper comprehension of world history and hidden history
