Minute by Minute Lynn Hayes, 2017-09-18 After a meager and emotionally challenging childhood, Mary leaves home at age sixteen to forge her own path. Fueled by a strong sense of self-preservation and tenacity, Mary works hard to claw her way out of the darkness and find her purpose in life. When her path leads her to make two new friends, Mary eventually finds her way to Florida, where a new beginning awaits. A leap of faith prompts Mary to step into a world she never knew existed: a world of athlete superstars, soul-sucking fans, and more money than she could ever imagine. After Mary marries Javier Cortez, a Detroit Tiger baseball player, she must weather the storm of being treated as an outsider, first by the trophy wives and then by his strong Cuban family. Now, as she attempts to survive the emotional toll of her choices, Mary can only hope that Javier loves her enough to help her stand steadfast against the gossip, false accusations, and other dangerous obstacles that threaten to drive her away. Minute by Minute shares the insightful story of one woman's search for enduring love after she marries a professional baseball player and realizes that her challenges have just begun. Official Gazette of the United States Patent and Trademark Office, 2002

Wanting to Be Her Michelle Graham, 2009-09-20 How do you feel when you look at a magazine cover? Do you ever look at the models and wish you looked like them? Most women have had that experience. When you go to the health club, you notice how buff the woman to the left is and how skinny the woman to the right is. And when you go out, you see the guys flocking to talk with certain women and wonder if your looks stack up to theirs. When you get dressed in the morning, do you worry about whether your jeans are flattering? Do you think about who you are going to see when you decide how to do your hair? When you eat a meal, do you think about those magazine models again? Most women do. And they are buying into a lie. In this book, Michelle Graham reveals how easy it is to fall into the trap of viewing your body through the lens of culture rather than through the eyes of God. She helps you understand that these are not the things that God wants you to dwell on. And these are not the true qualities of beauty. As you read this book, you will discover that beauty comes in all shapes, sizes, and colors, and it cannot be airbrushed or faked. In these pages, you will discover the true secrets of a positive body image. The Mirror Margaret Safo (Mrs.), 2005-09-24

Barbara Harris

Combs argues that racism is dynamic so new theories are needed to help expose it. The Bodies out of Place BOP theory she advances in the book offers such a corrective lens. Interrogating several recent racialized events: the Central Park birding incident, the killing of Ahmaud Arbery sleeping while Black, occurrences and others, Combs demonstrates how the underlying belief that undergirds each encounter is a false presumption that Black bodies in certain contexts are out of place. Within these examples, she illustrates how even amid professions to color blindness, fixed attitudes about where Black bodies belong, in what positions, at what time, and with whom still predominate. Combs describes a long historical pattern of White pushback against Black advancement and illuminates how each of the various forms of pushback is aimed at social control and regulation of Black bodies. She describes overt and covert attempts to push Black bodies back into their presumed place in U.S. society. While the pushback takes many forms, each works to paint a narrative to justify, rationalize, and excuse continuing violence against Black bodies. Equally important, Combs celebrates the resilient Black agency that has resisted this subjugation.
