Women, Law and Culture Jocelynn A. Scutt, 2017-02-17 This book explores cultural constructs societal demands and political and philosophical underpinnings that position women in the world It illustrates the way culture controls women s place in the world and how cultural constraints are not limited to any one culture country ethnicity race class or status Written by scholars from a wide range of specialists in law sociology anthropology popular and cultural studies history communications film and sex and gender this study provides an authoritative take on different cultures cultural demands and constraints contradictions and requirements for conformity generating conflict Women Law and Culture is distinctive because it recognises that no particular culture singles out women for special treatment rules and requirements rather all do Highlighting the way law and culture are intimately intertwined impacting on women whatever their country and social and economic status this book will be of great interest to scholars of law women s and gender studies and media studies

The Word of a Woman? J. Jordan, 2004-08-18 The notion that women lie about rape is a prevalent belief with pervasive influence This book is unique in combining police file data with interviews obtained from both rape survivors and detectives in order to critically explore how this belief affects police officers responses to women who report rape Examination of this material is located within a broader analysis of the historical and socio cultural environment and illustrates how rape investigations continue to be conducted within the context of pervasive beliefs and stereotypes regarding both the nature of rape and the nature of women

Serial Survivors Jan Jordan, 2008 The survival stories of fifteen women who were sexually assaulted by the same man Malcolm Rewa a serial rapist who terrorised women in Auckland Informed Choice of Medical Services: Is the Law Just? Marj Milburn, 2017-09-29 This title was first published in 2001 This work is a uniquely multi disciplinary contribution to the existing bioethical literature on the topic of informed choice of medical services It is also the first comprehensive bioethical text to confront the central issue of power in the clinical encounter and to argue for statutory protection of the right to informed choice While the majority of bioethicists argue for a conciliatory rather than adversarial approach to the chronic problem of uninformed consent the author of this work argues that the external regulation of medicine is essential if the right to informed choice is to be protected This argument is based upon an extensive review of the bioethical legal political medical sociological and philosophical literature as well as a wide range of empirical and anecdotal evidence evolving from a detailed exploration of power and the limits of rationality in the clinical encounter

Women's Encounters with Violence Sandra Cook, Judith Bessant, 1997-07-22 The issue of violence against women in countries around the world continues to receive increasing public media political and scholarly attention While research findings in Women s Encounters of Violence in Australia are framed within a specific perspective they extend beyond national boundaries to provide a critical analysis needed to change political and social policies worldwide Editors Sandy Cook and Judith Bessant introduce the history of violence in Australia and examine how culturally embedded laws and customs have acted like locks on women's oppression. In addition to culture specific topics such as the injustices suffered by Australian Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander women, the contributors also explore issues that cross cultural boundaries including violence against women with disabilities, homeless women and lesbians. Promoting a crucial international context to this pervasive problem, Women's Encounters of Violence in Australia proves an excellent supplemental text for students as well as an accessible and timely resource for a broad range of professionals in counseling, social work, health care and law, and faculty in sociology, public policy and women's studies.

Compelling Engagements Wendy Larcombe, 2005. After decades of rape law reform, it is still being argued that the criminal justice system fails rape victims: that too few cases are prosecuted and too few prosecutions result in conviction. Compelling Engagements is a ground-breaking work which investigates the narratives of rape law and of romance fiction and explores the outmoded and strikingly similar depictions of their normative female subjects. These are women who are not only vulnerable but also evidently worthy of the protections or rewards promised: punishment of the rapist or the hero's love. Larcombe's analysis explores the definitions of rape in the criminal law and romance in Harlequin Mills and Boon fiction; the feminine subjects represented in the texts of rape law and romance fiction; the feminised subject positions the texts produce; the rape complainant and the romance reader; particular fictionalisations of the rape complainant and the romance reader; the false rape complainant and the ideal romance consumer; and how these fictionalisations serve the interests of the criminal justice system and the romance publishing industry. Larcombe shows how the legal construction of gender and subjectivity in rape law is still working to disempower victims. She suggests feminism's failure to accommodate women's investment in heroines of romance fiction has limited their effectiveness in transforming rape law. Compelling Engagements is an original and engaging analysis and fascinating reading for anyone who deals with rape as part of the criminal justice system.

Masculinities and Management in Agricultural Organizations Worldwide Barbara Pini, 2017-11-30. Using contemporary gender theory to examine gender and rurality beyond that of simply women's femininities, this illuminating book accurately locates the subject of masculinities within the rural agricultural context. While there has been a wealth of literature on men and masculinities published in recent years, the climate of ideas has been typically experienced through an urban lens. This book therefore investigates new conceptual territory. Embedded in the literature on gender and rurality as well as the scholarship on gender and organizations management, the book draws on an in-depth ethnographic study of gender relations in Australian agricultural politics. It will speak to academic audiences in rural social sciences, gender studies and management organization studies.

Women and The Magna Carta Jocelynn Scutt, 2016-04-30. On the eight hundredth anniversary of the Magna Carta, Women and the Magna Carta investigates what the charter meant for women's rights and freedoms from an historical and legal perspective.

Wild Politics Susan Hawthorne, 2002. Synthesising issues that are at the forefront of local and global politics and social movements of the 21st century, this work presents a powerful critique of global western culture, challenging many of its central assumptions and
