The League for Industrial Democracy, a Documentary History, 1980 The League for Industrial Democracy, a Documentary History, 1980 Books in Print, 1991 Eighteenth-Century White Slaves, 1993-12-30 While historians of Southern slavery have increasingly come to have access to slave sources there has been a dearth of easily accessible documents on indentured white servants of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries This volume of advertisements for runaway indentured servants helps to address that need The first of four volumes providing a full collection of these advertisements this volume covers Pennsylvania from 1729 to 1760 while the following volumes will cover Pennsylvania from 1761 to 1820 South Carolina Connecticut Maryland Virginia and Massachusetts This collection will provide a valuable source of information about unfree white classes in early America saving hours of research time Two appendices one listing planters by name and one listing runaways by name provide access to the people mentioned in the advertisements Appendix tables also provide useful statistics about the runaways Film and Propaganda in America: 1945 and after Richard E. Wood, 1990 American Reference Books Annual Bohdan S. Wynar, Susan C. Holte, Janet H. Littlefield, 1982-04 1970 issued in 2 vols v 1 General reference social sciences history economics business v 2 Fine arts humanities science and engineering

Film and Propaganda in America: World War II Richard E. Wood, 1990 The American Curriculum George Willis, 1993 At a time marked by strong demands for educational reform the American school curriculum is a topic of special concern This volume provides a comprehensive historical record of the evolution of the curriculum in America from the colonial period to the present day The editors have compiled a collection of influential and representative documents in primary secondary and higher education in the United States Each document is introduced by a short essay that discusses its historical context and significance The result is a valuable chronicle of the development of the American school curriculum The work begins with an introductory piece that overviews the development of the curriculum and surveys the most important works on curriculum history The introduction is followed by excerpts from 34 documents representative of the school curriculum from The Rules and Course of Study of Harvard College 1642 to the 1983 report A Nation at Risk The Imperative for Educational Reform The essay that introduces each document closes with a brief bibliography and the volume concludes with a more extensive list of sources for further reading By consulting this reference historians and educators can trace the development of the curriculum over the last 350 years Film and Propaganda in America David Holbrook Culbert, Richard E. Wood, 1990 In the twentieth century every technologically advanced country has used propaganda to sell policies and programs to its citizens In this five volume 6000 page series David Culbert brings together documents that reflect the richness of American archives and suggest the central role film played in American wartime instruction as well as attempts to explain the meaning of the war to American soldiers and citizens Emphasis is on unpublished material rather than actual film scripts or review of popular feature films of the era available elsewhere Volume II is devoted entirely to a controversial Inspector General Division investigation of training film production in Hollywood 1940 1943 The verbatim testimony and final report of the IG investigation published here for the first time contain an unparalleled collection of data unique in wartime America of government film production in Hollywood Featured in this collection are transcripts of the conversations that took place between IG investigators and famous film producers including Walt Disney Frank Capra and Darryl Zanuck Film and Propaganda in America the largest collection of archival government documents on the subject ever published includes letters legal documents and memoranda for the war years Citations at the head of each document supply name of the author recipient date sent and the collection from which the document is taken providing a valuable guide to further research This series should appeal to anyone interested in the history of filmmaking propaganda and the war effort or American government history

Film and Propaganda in America: World War I David Holbrook Culbert, Richard E. Wood, Lawrence H. Suid, 1990 Annotation In this volume the first of a five volume 6000 page series the editors bring together representative unpublished government documents relating to film production in the United States during World War I

Wilhelm Liebknecht and German Social Democracy William Pelz, 1994-11-21 Wilhelm Liebknecht is little known today outside his native Germany Yet in the late 19th century he was renowned throughout the industrialized world as a champion of working people and a prime mover in the emerging German Social Democratic Party His speeches and pamphlets were translated into numerous languages and helped inspire generations of militant workers and socialist activists This volume presents Liebknecht in his own words He produced such a massive amount of material that it is doubtful a complete collection will ever be assembled this is however a representative sampling of his most renowned and influential work As much as possible selections are presented unedited Each piece is prefaced by a brief introduction to put the material in context Most appear in English for the first time In addition to the selection of his works the volume contains a section of essays and observations by colleagues and others who knew his work firsthand The book also contains a chronology glossary and other aids to facilitate an understanding of the man and the period It is an important research tool for political and labor historians and others concerned with the development of mass movements in 19th and 20th century Europe

American Antislavery Songs Vicki L. Eaklor, 1988-08-16 This comprehensive collection of 492 songs constitutes a body of work surprisingly large in proportion and revealing in scope Drawn from a wide selection of sources it is the only collection of antislavery songs currently in print The songs are organized in six sections representing variations of antislavery thought and activity Compiled from songs originally printed with music lyrics with designated tunes and lyrics otherwise indicating that they were actually sung the book follows a chronology that is historically meaningful There is an explanatory introduction for each section in which both the music and the lyrics are discussed Sources are included for each song and five indexes provide ready access to author title tune first line and subject The author's extensive introductory essay examines the historical background of the antislavery movement and its music

Six Plays for Young People from the Federal

Theatre Project (1936-1939) Federal Theatre Project (U.S.), 1986-03-18 The subject of Swortzell's book is a selection of plays created by the Children's Theatre units of the Federal Theatre Project. Most of the six plays in Swortzell's anthology resonate with political messages integral to the post Depression post World War I era. Though some of the scripts like Chorpenning's A Letter to Santa Clause which is an indictment of war and Yasha Frank's Pinocchio which celebrates the rewards of a virtuous life hammer away at theme to the point of becoming tedious the plays written and performed during this brief heyday in the history of children's theatre reveal just how far the genre could move beyond the narrow focus and prescribed subjects which once defined its boundaries. Children's Literature Association Quarterly. The plays published here were originally commissioned by the Federal Theatre Project FTP of the Works Progress Administration. Editor Lowell Swortzell has selected six plays representative of the repertory of the children's theatre productions of the FTP and reprinted them in their entirety. The plays whether original scripts or adaptations of fairy tales and folklore emphasized both educational and entertainment value. The plays are preceded by an extensive introduction detailing the history and goals of the children's theatre unit. The plays are: Horse Play by Dorothy Hailparn a comedy from the Negro Unit of New York City; Flight by Oscar Saul and Louis Lantz a documentary play in the style of the Living Newspaper; The Boiled Eggs by Rught Fenisong a comedy from the Marionette Unit of New York City; The Revolt of the Beavers by Oscar Saul and Louis Lantz a controversial fable from Broadway; A Letter to Santa Claus by Charlotte Chorpenning an anti war Christmas pantomime produced as a gift to the children of Chicago and Pinocchio a popular adaptation first produced in Los Angeles then transferred to Broadway. The Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1986 Subject Guide to Books in Print, 1993

Books in Print Supplement, 1985 Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2000 Dictionary Catalog of the Schomburg Collection of Negro Literature and History Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture, Schomburg Collection of Negro Literature and History, 1962 Microform Review, 1989 CLiC Quarterly, 1984
