The Art of Impressionism Anthea Callen, 2000-01-01 Drawing on scientific studies of pigments and materials, artists' treatises, colourmen's archives, and contemporary and modern accounts, Anthea Callen demonstrates how raw materials and paintings are profoundly interdependent. She analyses the material constituents of oil painting and the complex processes of making entailed in all aspects of artistic production, discussing in particular oil painting methods for landscapists and the impact of plein air light on figure painting studio practice and display. Insisting that the meanings of paintings are constituted by and within the cultural matrices that produced them, Callen argues that the real modernity of the Impressionist enterprise lies in the painter's material practices. BOOK JACKET March of the Pigments Mary Virginia Orna, 2022-05-23 Take a colorful walk through human ingenuity. Humans have been unpacking the earth to use pigments since cavemen times. Starting out from surface pigments for cave paintings, we've dug deep for minerals, mined oceans for colors, and exploited the world of plants and animals. Our accidental fumbles have given birth to a whole family of brilliant blues that grace our museums, mansions, and motorcars. We've turned waste materials into a whole rainbow of tints and hues to color our clothes, our food, and ourselves. With the snip of a genetic scissor, we've harnessed bacteria to gift us with greener blue jeans and dazzling dashikis. As the pigments march on into the future, who knows what new and exciting inventions will emerge. Mary Virginia Orna, a world recognized expert on color, will lead you through an illuminating journey exploring the science behind pigments. Pausing for reflections en route to share stories around pigment use and discoveries informed by history, religion, sociology, and human endeavour, this book will have you absorbing science and regaling tales. Jam packed with nuggets of information.
