

The Incomplete Folksinger

James J. Farrell

The Incomplete Folksinger:

The Incomplete Folksinger Pete Seeger, 1972 The well known folk singer explores the appeal traditions significance and performers of folk music from America Asia Europe and Africa and discusses aspects of the modern folk revival The Incomplete Folksinger Pete Seeger, 1977-03-15 The African Diaspora Ingrid Monson, 2018-07-17 The African Diaspora presents musical case studies from various regions of the African diaspora including Africa the Caribbean Latin America North America and Europe that engage with broader interdisciplinary discussions about race gender politics nationalism and music Featured here are jazz wassoulou music and popular and traditional musics of the Caribbean and Africa framed with attention to the reciprocal relationships of the local and the global That Half-barbaric Twang Karen Linn, 1994 Long a symbol of American culture the banjo actually originated in Africa before European Americans adopted it Karen Linn shows how the banjo despite design innovations and several modernizing agendas has failed to escape its image as a half barbaric instrument symbolic of antimodernism and sentimentalism Caught in the morass of American racial attitudes and often used to express ambivalence toward modern industrial society the banjo stood in opposition to the official values of rationalism modernism and belief in the beneficence of material progress Linn uses popular literature visual arts advertisements film performance practices instrument construction and decoration and song lyrics to illustrate how notions about the banjo have changed Linn also traces the instrument from its African origins through the 1980s alternating between themes of urban modernization and rural nostalgia She examines the banjo fad of bourgeois Northerners during the late nineteenth century the African American banjo tradition and the commercially popular cultural image of the southern black banjo player the banjo s use in ragtime and early jazz and the image of the white Southerner and mountaineer as banjo player Music, Modernity, and the Global Imagination Veit Erlmann, 1999-06-03 How was Africa seen by the West during the colonial period How do Europeans and Americans conceive of Africa in today s postcolonial era Such questions have preoccupied anthropologists historians and literary scholars for years But few have asked the reverse how did and do Africans see Europe and the United States Fewer still have wondered how Western images of Africa and African representations of the West might mirror one another In a detailed study spanning from the late nineteenth century to the present renowned anthropologist and ethnomusicologist Veit Erlmann examines the very creation of a global imagination for black South Africans Europeans and African Americans To this end he explores two striking episodes in the history of black South African music The first is a pair of tours made by two black South African choirs in England and America in the early 1890s the second is a series of engagements with the international music industry as experienced by the premier choral group Ladysmith Black Mambazo after the release of Paul Simon s celebrated Graceland album in 1986 Readers will find the cast of characters involved in these intertwined and international dramas at once telling and impressive Among the many players are African National Congress co founder Saul Msane Queen Victoria African American musician and impresario Orpheus

McAdoo Xhosa Christian prophet Ntsikana W E B Du Bois Michael Jackson and Spike Lee Music Modernity and the Global Imagination tells the story of how these artists activists and agents effectively invented each other in travel diaries religious hymns concert performances music videos Broadway plays and autobiographies Erlmann also argues that the resultant mixture of myths and fictions as distinctly imagined by these diverse historical actors entangled South Africa and the West in ways that often obscured the newly emergent global imbalances of power or else blurred the polarities of the colonial and postcolonial world Ultimately this book reports on a transatlantic dialogue that carries direct and profound implications for the world s arts and cultures It is the black diasporic discussion between South Africa and the West and it is a conversation about society music and Utopia that is still in progress

Alan Lomax John Szwed,2010-12-30 The remarkable life and times of the man who popularized American folk music and created the science of song Folklorist archivist anthropologist singer political activist talent scout ethnomusicologist filmmaker concert and record producer Alan Lomax is best remembered as the man who introduced folk music to the masses Lomax began his career making field recordings of rural music for the Library of Congress and by the late 1930s brought his discoveries to radio including Woody Guthrie Pete Seeger and Burl Ives By the 1940s he was producing concerts that brought white and black performers together and in the 1950s he set out to record the whole world Lomax was also a controversial figure When he worked for the U S government he was tracked by the FBI and when he worked in Britain MI5 continued the surveillance In his last years he turned to digital media and developed technology that anticipated today s breakthroughs Featuring a cast of characters including Eleanor Roosevelt Leadbelly Carl Sandburg Carl Sagan Jelly Roll Morton Muddy Waters and Bob Dylan Szwed s fascinating biography memorably captures Lomax and provides a definitive account of an era as seen through the life of one extraordinary man

Africanizing Knowledge Toyin Falola, 2017-11-30 Nearly four decades ago Terence Ranger questioned to what extent African history was actually African and whether methods and concerns derived from Western historiography were really sufficient tools for researching and narrating African history Despite a blossoming and branching out of Africanist scholarship in the last twenty years that question is still haunting The most prestigious locations for production of African studies are outside Africa itself and scholars still seek a solution to this paradox They agree that the ideal solution would be a flowering of institutions of higher learning within Africa which would draw not only Africanist scholars but also financial resources to the continent While the focus of this volume is on historical knowledge the effort to make African scholarship more African is fundamentally interdisciplinary The essays in this volume employ several innovative methods in an effort to study Africa on its own terms The book is divided into four parts Part 1 Africanizing African History offers several diverse methods for bringing distinctly African modes of historical discourse to the foreground in academic historical research Part 2 African Creative Expression in Context presents case studies of African art literature music and poetry It attempts to strip away the exotic or primitivist aura such topics often accumulate when presented in a foreign setting in order to illuminate the social historical and aesthetic contexts in which these works of art were originally produced Part 3 Writing about Colonialism demonstrates that the study of imperialism in Africa remains a springboard for innovative work which takes familiar ideas about Africa and considers them within new contexts Part 4 Scholars and Their Work critically examines the process of African studies itself including the roles of scholars in the production of knowledge about Africa This timely and thoughtful volume will be of interest to African studies scholars and students who are concerned about the ways in which Africanist scholarship might become more African
