Christian Ethics Russell A. Morris,2015-08-14 Within the Christian community at large there is often little correlation between scriptural guidelines for Christian living and the lifestyle practices and behavior of believers Christian social scientist George Barna has done extensive research in this area that reveals alarming data For example nearly nine of ten adults state that religious faith is very important in their lives However only one in five adults claims that the Bible is the dominant influence in their decisions regarding lifestyle practices Further research suggests that there is often little difference between the lifestyle practices of Christians and non Christians This nominal difference in lifestyle practices and behavior between Christians and non Christians as well as the minimal correlation between Scripture and practice among many Christians produced an interest in this area of practical theology Serving as a Christian pastor over the past two decades the reality of Barnas research has been observed personally The biblical parallel of the prevailing apathy within todays churches is seen in Judges 21 25 NASB In those days there was no king in Israel everyone did what was right in his own eyes That is in those days there was no accepted standard of truth Likewise only one in four American adults believes in the existence of absolute truth As a result the relationship between doctrine and practice belief and behavior is often minimal with many Christians doing only what is right in their own eyes rather than allowing Gods Word to influence their mode of living A distinct relationship between belief and behavior is seen in I Timothy 4 16 In this passage Paul clearly identifies a correlation between what one believes doctrine and the lifestyle behavior one lives when he writes Watch your life and doctrine closely Persevere in them because if you do you will save both yourself and your hearers From this verse it is clear that there are two areas in the life of the Christian that need to be scrutinized and pursued namely belief and behavior The fundamental thesis of this book is that a deeper understanding of Christian ethics will inform and facilitate the Christian life and stimulating views on one of the most divisive issues of our time Editor Charles W Dunn and the contributors assess the impact of religion on American politics in four distinct time periods the founding the Civil War the New Deal era and the modern era Dunn out lines seven propositions that characterize the interaction of religion and politics during these time periods and describes how and why religion continues to influence politics in America Contributors to this volume argue that whereas religion in the founding era held society together in a shared belief of the biblical portrayal of humanity today s pluralistic religious interpretations of God appear to be tearing society apart The rise of Islam and other world religions poses perplexing questions about the issue of tolerance Can America survive as a free society without commonly accepted morals that are based in religion Is America a secular society with a clear separation of church and state or a government created and informed by ever changing religious values The Future of Religion in American Politics includes essays about religion in the public square evangelical and faith based politics in presidential elections The authors investigate many thought provoking questions about the extent of religious influence in the U S government today and its likely impact in the future Lucid and accessible this book covers a wide range of issues and will be invaluable to students of politics religious studies and history
