literature Latin Christian Writers in Late Antiquity and their Texts seeks to delineate a historiographical problem at the same time rendering patristics as part of the subject matter of a new literary history After preliminary essays marking out the field the volume is organized in three sections by authors forms of discourse and disciplines Released from the theological discipline of patristics the writings of the church fathers have in recent decades become the common property of students of early Christianity late antiquity and the classical tradition In principle they are now no more nor less than sources documents and literary texts like others from their period and milieux Yet when replaced in the longer history of Western textual and literary practices the collective literary oeuvre of Latin clerics monks and ascetic freelances of the Later Roman Empire may still seem to occupy a place of decisive if not canonical importance How does one now account for the abiding formativeness of Latin Christian writing of the fourth and fifth centuries CE What demands does such writing lay on a modern history of literature These are the questions asked here in view of a new literary history of patristic texts
