The Laughing Cry An African Cock And Bull Story:

The Laughing Cry Henri Lopes, 1987 Brilliant ferocious burlesque of Africa's strong man politics by a great African writer

The Tears of the Black Man Alain Mabanckou, 2018-07-11 An intellectually dense collection Mabanckou's challenging perspective on African identity today is as enlightening as it is provocative Publishers Weekly In The Tears of the Black Man award winning author Alain Mabanckou explores what it means to be black in the world today Mabanckou confronts the long and entangled history of Africa France and the United States as it has been shaped by slavery colonialism and their legacy today Without ignoring the injustices and prejudice still facing blacks he distances himself from resentment and victimhood arguing that focusing too intensely on the crimes of the past is limiting Instead it is time to ask Now what Embracing the challenges faced by ethnic minority communities today The Tears of the Black Man looks to the future choosing to believe that the history of Africa has yet to be written and seeking a path toward affirmation and reconciliation Praise for Alain Mabanckou and his works Mabanckou counts as one of the most successful voices of young African literature Internationales Literaturfestival Berlin Africa's Samuel Beckett one of the continent's greatest living writers The Guardian One of the most compelling books you'll read in any language this year Rolling Stone The Dictator Novel Magali

Armillas-Tiseyra, 2019-07-15 Where there are dictators there are novels about dictators But dictator novels do not simply respond to the reality of dictatorship As this genre has developed and cohered it has acquired a self generating force distinct from its historical referents The dictator novel has become a space in which writers consider the difficulties of national consolidation explore the role of external and global forces in sustaining dictatorship and even interrogate the political functions of writing itself Literary representations of the dictator therefore provide ground for a self conscious and self critical theorization of the relationship between writing and politics itself The Dictator Novel positions novels about dictators as a vital genre in the literatures of the Global South Primarily identified with Latin America the dictator novel also has underacknowledged importance in the postcolonial literatures of francophone and anglophone Africa Although scholars have noted similarities this book is the first extensive comparative analysis of these traditions it includes discussions of authors including Gabriel Garcia Marquez Ngũgĩ wa Thiong'o Alejo Carpentier Augusto Roa Bastos Domingo Faustino Sarmiento José Martí Esteban Echeverría Ousmane Sembène Chinua Achebe Aminata Sow Fall Henri Lopé Sony Labou Tansi and Ahmadou Kourouma This juxtaposition illuminates the internal dynamics of the dictator novel as a literary genre In so doing Armillas Tiseyra puts forward a comparative model relevant to scholars working across the Global South Nation-Building,

Propaganda, and Literature in Francophone Africa Dominic Thomas, 2002-11-19 What characterizes the relationship between literature and the state Should literature serve the needs of the state by constructing national consciousness espousing state propaganda and molding good citizens Or should it be dedicated to a different kind of creative social endeavor In this important book about literature and the politics of nation building Dominic Thomas assesses the contributions of Francophone African writers whose works have played a key role in the recent transition to democracy in the Congo Exploring the works of Sony Labou Tansi Henri Lopes and Emmanuel Dongala among others Thomas highlights writers intimately involved with government and politics whether in support of the state's vision or with the intention of articulating a more open view of citizens and society Focusing on themes such as collaboration reconciliation identity history and memory Nation Building Propaganda and Literature in Francophone Africa elaborates a broader understanding of the circumstances of African colonization modern African nation state formation and the complex cultural dynamics at work in Africa since independence The Post-colonial Condition of African Literature Daniel Gover, John Conteh-Morgan, Jane Bryce, 2000 A collection of ten articles on African literature selected from papers presented at the 1995 conference of the African Literature Association held in Columbus Ohio Postcolonial Criticism and Representations of African Dictatorship Cecile Bishop, 2017-07-05 The figure of the dictator looms large in representations of postcolonial Africa Since the late 1970s writers film makers and theorists have sought to represent the realities of dictatorship without endorsing the colonialist clichés portraying Africans as incapable of self government Against the heavily politicized responses provoked by this dilemma Bishop argues for a form of criticism that places the complexity of the reader's or spectator's experiences at the heart of its investigations Ranging across literature film and political theory this study calls for a reengagement with notions often seen as unwelcome diversions from political questions such as referentiality genre and aesthetics But rather than pit political approaches against formal and aesthetic procedures the author presents new insights into the interplay of the political and the aesthetic Cecile Bishop is a Junior Research Fellow in French at Somerville College Oxford The Oxford Handbook of Gabriel García Márquez Gene H. Bell-Villada, Ignacio López-Calvo, 2022 This Handbook offers a comprehensive examination of Gabriel García Márquez's life oeuvre and legacy the first such work since his death in 2014 It incorporates ongoing critical approaches such as feminism ecocriticism Marxism and ethnic studies while elucidating key aspects of his work such as his Caribbean Colombian background his use of magical realism myth and folklore and his left wing political views Thirty two wide ranging chapters cover the bulk of the author's writings giving special attention to the global influence of García Márquez The Francophone African Text Kwaku Addae Gyasi, 2006 Focusing on the African writer and the language of the former colonial power The Francophone African Text Translation and the Postcolonial Experience highlights the writer's reappropriation of the foreign language in the creative writing process It calls attention to the African writer's use of French a process of creative translation in which the writer's words form a hybrid code that compels the original French to refer to the indigenous African language for meaning Examining a group of works under the theme of translation this book reveals that a consideration of both ideological and linguistic elements enhances understanding of the subject from the broader perspective of postcolonial discourse Francophone African Narratives and the Anglo-American Book Market Vivan Steemers, 2021-03-01 In recent years the material circumstances governing the production of African literature have been analyzed from a variety of angles This study goes one step further by charting the trajectories of a corpus of francophone African sub Saharan narratives subsequently translated into English It examines the role of various institutional agents and agencies publishers preface writers critics translators and literary award committees involved in the value making process that accrues visibility to these texts that eventually reach the Anglo American book market The author evinces that over time different types of publishers dominated both within the original publishing space as in the foreign literary field contingent on their specific mission be it commercial ideological or educational as well as on socioeconomic and political circumstances The study addresses the influence of the editorial paratextual framing pandering to specific Western readerships the potential interventionist function of the translator and the consecrating mechanisms of literary and translation awards affecting both gender and minority representation Drawing on the work by key sociologists and translation theorists the author uses an innovative interdisciplinary methodology to analyze the corpus narratives

Decolonizing Translation Kathryn Batchelor, 2014-04-08 The linguistically innovative aspect of Francophone African literature has been recognized and studied from a variety of angles over recent decades yet little attention has been paid to what happens to such literature when it is translated into another language Taking as its corpus all sub Saharan Francophone African texts that have ever been published in English this book explores the ways in which translators approach innovative features such as African language borrowings neologisms and other deliberate manipulations of French depictions of sociolinguistic variation and a variety of types of wordplay The implications of their translation decisions are drawn out with reference to the broader significances that are often accorded to postcolonial literature and earlier critics calls for a decolonized translation practice are explored from both a practical and theoretical angle These findings are used to push towards a detailed investigation of the postcolonial turn in translation studies drawing on the work of key postcolonial theorists such as Homi K Bhabha and Gayatri Spivak This is a timely and incisive critical assessment of contemporary discourses on the ethics and politics of translation

The Oxford Handbook of the Latin American Novel Juan E. De Castro, Ignacio Lòpez-Calvo, 2023 The Latin American novel burst onto the international literary scene with the Boom era led by Julio Cortázar Gabriel García Márquez Carlos Fuentes and Mario Vargas Llosa and has influenced writers throughout the world ever since García Márquez and Vargas Llosa each received the Nobel Prize in literature and many of the best known contemporary novelists are inspired by the region's fiction Indeed magical realism the style associated with García Márquez has left a profound imprint on African American African Asian Anglophone Caribbean and Latinx writers Furthermore post Boom literature continues to garner interest from the novels of Roberto Bolaño to the works of César Aira and Chico Buarque to those of younger novelists such as Juan Gabriel Vásquez Alejandro Zambra and Valeria Luiselli Yet for many readers the Latin American novel is often read in a piecemeal manner delinked from the traditions authors and social contexts that help explain its evolution The Oxford Handbook of the Latin American Novel draws literary historical and social connections so that readers will come away understanding this literature as a rich and compelling canon In forty five chapters by leading and innovative scholars the Handbook provides a comprehensive introduction helping readers to see the region's intrinsic heterogeneity for only with a broader view can one fully appreciate García Márquez or Bolaño This volume charts the literary tradition of the Latin American novel from its beginnings during colonial times its development during the nineteenth and the first half of the twentieth century and its flourishing from the 1960s onward Furthermore the Handbook explores the region's representations of identity narrative trends and authors that make this literature so diverse and fascinating reflecting on the Latin American novel's position in world literature

Emerging Perspectives on Nuruddin Farah Derek Wright, 2002 The first critical anthology of its kind this is an in depth look at Somalia's internationally acclaimed and award winning novelist Farah one of Africa's most multilingual and multi literary writers Although since his exile in 1974 he has been influenced by many cultural trends from around the world his writing is still very firmly rooted in the African continent which he has made his base since 1981

Indigenization of Language in the African Francophone Novel Peter W. Vakunta, 2011 Indigenization of Language in the African Francophone Novel A New Literary Canon discusses the question of indigenization in the African Francophone novel Analyzing the prose narratives of Nazi Boni Ahmadou Kourouma and Patrice Nganang this book contends that African literature written in European languages is primarily a creative translation process Recourse to European languages as a medium of expressing African imagination worldview and cultures in fictional writing poses problems of intelligibility Developed to express and reflect Western worldviews and sensibilities European languages are employed by African writers to convey messages that seem to be at variance with European imagination These writers find themselves writing in languages they wish to subvert through the technique of literary indigenization The significance of this study resides in its raising awareness to the hurdles that literary creativity in a polyglossic context may present to readers and translators This book provides answers to intriguing questions centering on the problematic of translation in contemporary African literature It is a contribution to current research aimed at unraveling the conundrum surrounding the language question in African Europhone fiction particularly the cultural functions of translation in literature Potential translation problems have to be addressed in order to make African literature written in European languages intelligible to global readership With the advent of globalization transcultural communication has become an activity of enormous importance to the international community It is a subject of great interest to translators linguists language instructors and literary theorists

The Power of the Word T. J. Cribb, 2006 This book is the record of a colloquium held at Churchill College Cambridge It pursues lines of discussion radiating out from the core theme of the power of the image understood in its pictorial iconic sensory and verbal senses Writers scholars and artists are grouped in pairs representing the two language cultures English and French Central topics covered include the manifold ways in which our readings of pictorial images old and contemporary can bridge cultures language politics and the politics of culture the limitless and instructive senses of the concept of the word the relation between orality and the written text the implications of the act of writing history and opera the word in theatre the influence of the Nobel Prize The terms of discussion universally urbane effortlessly wide ranging and deeply probing Most importantly and a reminder of how best to ensure literate wisdom in intercultural debate is the fact that the contributors gathered here have avoided all pre packaging of their reflections in the shibboleth discourses whether Freudian poststructuralist postmodern or postcolonial of our time Contributors are Anthony Kwame Appiah Biyi Bandele Jacques Chevrier Tim Cribb Ir ne d Almeida Casimir d Angelo Assia Djébar Akin Euba Christiane Fioupou Lorna Goodison Wilson Harris Marika Hedin Gerard Houghton Abiola Irele Anny King John Kinsella Henri Lop s Daniel Maximin Femi Osofisan Niyi Osundare Ato Quayson Alain Ricard Tracy Ryan Julien Sinzogan Alioune Sow Wole Soyinka George Steiner V ronique Tadjó Maria Tippett Olabiyi Ya The Cambridge Companion to the City in Literature Kevin R.
