

be entitled to a degree unless his attainments amount to at least 25 per cent. of the amount established.

SECTION FIFTH

OF DEGREES

The regular Degrees conferred is the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Philosophy, &c.

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts is designed for those who desire to prepare themselves for professions, and yet, from unavoidable causes, cannot pursue a complete course of liberal education. To render it accessible to such students, the course is limited, and a large liberty of choice is given, so that they may be enabled to select such studies as will do best to prepare themselves for a particular profession.

In order to become a candidate for the degree, a student having been regularly examined must have been proficient in nine courses of instruction; these two must have been in an Ancient Language, one in Mathematics, one in English Language and Literature, and one in Moral Philosophy and the Evidence of Christianity.

The wish of the Corporation is to make the requirements for obtaining it, such as will confer a high degree of intellectual culture, without the necessity of studying the Ancient Languages.

For the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy, the candidate having entered by regular examination, must have been proficient in nine courses of one year each. Of these one must have been a Modern Language, one Mathematics, one English Literature, one History and Political Economy and Moral Philosophy and the Evidence of Christianity. The remaining studies required for this degree may be left to his own option.

A student who attends for two years the course of Mathematics, and the full course of Civil Engineering, may be admitted a candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy, by obtaining testimonials of proficiency in such other courses as shall, in the judgment of the Faculty, make his whole amount of study equal to nine courses of one year each. The same principle shall also be applied to students who pursue either of the other special courses.

The candidates for these degrees will then be examined in the manner above specified, in three of the studies in which they have been proficients. The order in which the examinations will be held, will be made known to the University at the beginning of the term immediately preceding the Commencement.

The degree of Master of Arts is intended for those students who desire to pursue a full course of liberal education. In order to become a candidate for this degree, the student must have obtained testimonials of proficiency in the following courses of instruction:—

- In the Ancient Languages for two years,
- In one Modern Language for one year,
- In the Mathematics of two years,
