The Life And Thought Of Chang Hsueh Cheng 1738 1801:

The Life and Thought of Chang Hsueh-ch'eng (1738-1801) David S. Nivison, 1996 Rediscovering Confucianism Torbjörn Lodén, 2021-10-01 This book provides an outline and an appraisal of Confucianism as a system of ideas and beliefs that evolved during the past 3 millennia and continue to do so. Its roots are traced back to pre-Confucian times followed by a detailed examination of some 40 Confucian thinkers. It also describes the social context of evolution of Confucian thought.

Confucianism and Women Li-Hsiang Lisa Rosenlee, 2012-02-01 Confucianism and Women argues that Confucian philosophy often criticized as misogynistic and patriarchal is not inherently sexist. Although historically bound up with oppressive practices, Confucianism contains much that can promote an ethic of gender parity. Attacks on Confucianism for gender oppression have marked China's modern period beginning with the May Fourth Movement of 1919 and reaching prominence during the Cultural Revolution of the 1960s and 1970s. The West has also readily characterized Confucianism as a foundation of Chinese women's oppression. Author Li Hsiang Lisa Rosenlee challenges readers to consider the culture within which Confucianism has functioned and to explore what Confucian thought might mean for women and feminism. She begins the work by clarifying the intellectual tradition of Confucianism and discussing the importance of the Confucian cultural categories yin yang and nei wai (inner/outer) for gender ethics. In addition, the Chinese tradition of biographies of virtuous women and books of instruction by and for women is shown to provide a Confucian construction of gender. Practices such as widow chastity, footbinding, and concubinage are discussed in light of Confucian ethics and Chinese history. Ultimately, Rosenlee lays a foundation for a future construction of Confucian feminism as an alternative ethical ground for women's liberation.

Chinese Philosophy of History Dawid Rogacz, 2020-10-15 Challenging the Eurocentric misconception that the philosophy of history is a Western invention, this book reconstructs Chinese thought and offers the first systematic treatment of classical Chinese philosophy of history. Dawid Rogacz charts the development from pre-imperial Confucian philosophy of history, the Warring States period, and the Han dynasty through to the neo-Confucian philosophy of the Tang and Song eras and finally to the Ming and Qing dynasties. Revealing underexplored areas of Chinese thought, he provides Western readers with new insight into original texts and the ideas of over 40 Chinese philosophers, including Mencius, Shang Yang, Dong Zhongshu, Wang Chong, Liu Zongyuan, Shao Yong, Li Zhi, Wang Fuzhi, and Zhang Xuecheng. This vast interpretive body is compared with the main premises of Western philosophy of history in order to open new lines of inquiry and directions for comparative study. Clarifying key ideas in the Chinese tradition that have been misrepresented or shoehorned to fit Western definitions, Rogacz offers an important reconsideration of how Chinese philosophers have understood history.

A Global Encyclopedia of Historical Writing: A-J Daniel R. Woolf, 1998 This volume traces the modern critical and performance history of this play, one of Shakespeare's most loved and most performed comedies. The essays focus on such modern concerns as feminism, deconstruction, textual theory, and queer theory.

Edward Wang, Georg G. Iggers, 2002 An examination of how historical thinking has changed in recent years through a comparison between Eastern and Western epochs A Moment's Notice Carol J. Greenhouse, 2018-07-05 Focusing on the problem of time the paradox of time's apparent universality and cultural relativity Carol J Greenhouse develops an original ethnographic account of our present moment the much heralded postmodern condition which is at the same time a reflexive analysis of ethnography itself She argues that time is about agency and accountability and that representations of time are used by institutions of law politics and scholarship to selectively refashion popular ideas of agency into paradigms of institutional legitimacy A Moment's Notice suggests that the problem of time in theory is the corollary of problems of power in practice Greenhouse develops her theory in examinations of three moments of cultural and political crisis the resistance of the Aztecs against Cortes the consolidation of China's First Empire and the recent partisan political contests over Supreme Court nominees in the United States In each of these cases temporal innovation is integral to political improvisation as traditions of sovereignty confront new cultural challenges These cases return the discussion to current issues of inequality postmodernity cultural pluralism and ethnography Imagining Harmony Peter Flueckiger, 2010-10-19 Many intellectuals in eighteenth century Japan valued classical poetry in either Chinese or Japanese for its expression of unadulterated human sentiments They also saw such poetry as a distillation of the language and aesthetic values of ancient China and Japan which offered models of the good government and social harmony lacking in their time By studying the poetry of the past and composing new poetry emulating its style they believed it possible to reform their own society Imagining Harmony focuses on the development of these ideas in the life and work of Ogyu Sorai the most influential Confucian philosopher of the eighteenth century and that of his key disciples and critics This study contends that the literary thought of these figures needs to be understood not just for what it has to say about the composition of poetry but as a form of political and philosophical discourse Unlike other scholars of this literature Peter Flueckiger argues that the increased valorization of human emotions in eighteenth century literary thought went hand in hand with new demands for how emotions were to be regulated and socialized and that literary and political thought of the time were thus not at odds but inextricably linked The Oxford History of Historical Writing José Rabasa, Masayuki Sato, Edoardo Tortarolo, Daniel Woolf, 2012-03-29 Volume III of The Oxford History of Historical Writing contains essays by leading scholars on the writing of history globally during the early modern era from 1400 to 1800 The volume proceeds in geographic order from east to west beginning in Asia and ending in the Americas It aims at once to provide a selective but authoritative survey of the field and where opportunity allows to provoke cross cultural comparisons

This is the third of five volumes in a series that explores representations of the past from the beginning of writing to the present day and from all over the world China Pluperfect I Frank Vigneron, 2022-07-01 Initially based on a comparative study of Chinese and Euro American art theory in the 18th and 19th centuries this book examines how both cultures looked at their own past and their outside i.e. what was construed as not belonging to their own cultural sphere and how they devised new ways of adapting them into evolving cultural constructs While the 17th century was still a time when the epistemological backgrounds of both civilizations were so profoundly different that nearly no dialogue was possible the 18th century saw the emergence in both places of profound changes that would get them close enough to create the conditions for the beginning of a conversation First quite superficial and taking shape mostly in the decorative arts this process of rapprochement while remaining chaotic and unpredictable led to wider and more profound zones of contact throughout the late 19th and 20th centuries Through the reinterpretations of each other's cultural creations these zones of contact grew wider as the conditions for globalization became more and more prevalent Frank Vigneron observes and explores these changes through texts and the visual arts to reveal how these two civilizations while keeping their own characteristics managed to develop fruitful dialogues and create deeply intertwined cultures As an example the final chapter looks at contemporary Chinese calligraphy as an art that even though it has no equivalent in Euro America successfully integrated cross cultural theoretical elements thus exemplifying how past and outside can combine into new artistic constructs The Journal of Asian Studies, 1968

The Politics of Language in Chinese Education Elisabeth Kaske, 2008 Viewing education as the central battleground over the status of language this book investigates the language policies of various social agents in early 20th century China and offers a comprehensive and fascinating analysis of the emergence of China's national language Encyclopedia of Historians and Historical Writing Kelly Boyd, 2019-10-09 The Encyclopedia of Historians and Historical Writing contains over 800 entries ranging from Lord Acton and Anna Comnena to Howard Zinn and from Herodotus to Simon Schama Over 300 contributors from around the world have composed critical assessments of historians from the beginning of historical writing to the present day including individuals from related disciplines like Jürgen Habermas and Clifford Geertz whose theoretical contributions have informed historical debate Additionally the Encyclopedia includes some 200 essays treating the development of national regional and topical historiographies from the Ancient Near East to the history of sexuality In addition to the Western tradition it includes substantial assessments of African Asian and Latin American historians and debates on gender and subaltern studies Malady of Meditation Juhn Young Ahn, 2007
