The Limits Of Autobiography Trauma And Testimony:

The Limits of Autobiography Leigh Gilmore, 2023-07-15 In The Limits of Autobiography Leigh Gilmore analyzes texts that depict trauma by combining elements of autobiography fiction biography history and theory in ways that challenge the constraints of autobiography Astute and compelling readings of works by Michel Foucault Louis Althusser Dorothy Allison Mikal Gilmore Jamaica Kincaid and Jeanette Winterson explore how each poses the questions How have I lived and How will I live in relation to the social and psychic forms within which trauma emerges First published in 2001 this new edition of one of the foundational texts in trauma studies includes a new preface by the author that assesses the gravitational pull between life writing and trauma in the twenty first century a tension that continues to produce innovative and artful means of confronting kinship violence and self representation

From the Iron House Deena Rymhs, 2014-01-07 In From the Iron House Imprisonment in First Nations Writing Deena Rymhs identifies continuities between the residential school and the prison offering ways of reading the carceral that is the different ways that incarceration is constituted and articulated in contemporary Aboriginal literature Addressing the work of writers like Tomson Highway and Basil Johnston along with that of lesser known authors writing in prison serials and underground publications this book emphasizes the literary and political strategies these authors use to resist the containment of their institutions The first part of the book considers a diverse sample of writing from prison serials prisoners anthologies and individual autobiographies including Stolen Life by Rudy Wiebe and Yvonne Johnson to show how these works serve as second hearings for their authors an opportunity to respond to the law s authority over their personal and public identities while making a plea to a wider audience The second part looks at residential school narratives and shows how the authors construct identities for themselves in ways that defy the institution s control The interactions between these two bodies of writing residential school accounts and prison narratives invite recognition of the ways that guilt is colonially constructed and how these authors use their writing to distance themselves from that guilt Offering new ways of reading Native writing From the Iron House is a pioneering study of prison literature in Canada and situates its readings within international criticism of prison writing Contributing to genre studies and theoretical understandings of life writing and covering a variety of social topics this work will be relevant to readers interested in indigenous studies Canadian cultural studies postcolonial studies auto biography studies law and public policy

Memory Matters Janice Haaken, Paula Reavey, 2009-09-10 In this volume the editors make use of current memory scholarship to explore ethical moral and cultural issues that continue to shape the ways in which memory is conceived in a range of scientific therapeutic and legal settings

Transmissions of Memory Patrizia Sambuco, 2018-03-19 Transmissions of Memory Echoes Traumas and Nostalgia in Post World War II Italian Culture discusses cultural products films poetry fiction architectural buildings autobiographical writing and social media to individuate through them the dynamics of memory The field of analysis is Italian culture from World War II to the contemporary times and the volume has in a gendered approach

one of its focuses offering an encompassing view on cultural memory and highlighting the similarities between gendered revisitation and revisitation of the past The volume is divided into three sections cultural transmissions fractured memories and nostalgia In the chapters herewith the study of memory through these forms hints at a sense of transformation and often enrichment or resilience individual or collective that values more the present and the future rather than the past The Value of Worthless Lives Ilaria Serra, 2007 Publisher description Stories and Portraits of the Self, 2007-01-01 In contemporary societies privatization has long ceased to be just an economic concept rather it must increasingly be made to refer to the ongoing shrinking of the public space under the impact of the representation of individual lives and images which cuts across all discourses genres and media to become one of the primary means of production of culture This volume is intended to cover such an historical social and intellectual ground where self representation comes to the fore Targeting mostly an academic readership but certainly also of interest to the general educated public it collects a wide range of essays dealing with diverse modes of life writing and portraying from a variety of perspectives and focusing on different historical periods and media It thus offers itself as a major contribution to a better understanding of the world we live in its past legacy and present configuration Exceptional Violence and the Crisis of Classic American Literature Joseph

Fichtelberg, 2022-08-24 This book is an interdisciplinary study of antebellum American literature and the problem of political emergency Arguing that the United States endured sustained conflicts over the nature and operation of sovereignty in the unsettled era from the Founding to the Civil War the book presents two forms of governance local and regional control and national governance The period's states of exception arose from these clashing imperatives creating contests over land finance and above all slavery that drove national politics Extensively employing the political and cultural insights of Walter Benjamin this book surveys antebellum American writers to understand how they situated themselves and their work in relation to these episodes specifically focusing on the experience of violence Exploring the work of Edgar Allan Poe ex slave narrators like Moses Roper and Henry Bibb Herman Melville and Emily Dickinson the book applies some central aspects of Walter Benjamin's literary and cultural criticism to the deep investment in pain in antebellum politics and culture

Post-Conflict Literature Chris Andrews, Matt McGuire, 2016-04-20
This book brings together a variety of perspectives to explore the role of literature in the aftermath of political conflict studying the ways in which writers approach violent conflict and the equally important subject of peace Essays put insights from Peace and Conflict Studies into dialog with the unique ways in which literature attempts to understand the past and to reimagine both the present and the future exploring concepts like truth and reconciliation post traumatic memory historical reckoning therapeutic storytelling transitional justice archival memory and questions about victimhood and reparation Drawing on a range of literary texts and addressing a variety of post conflict societies this volume charts and explores the ways in which literature attempts to depict and make sense of this new philosophical terrain As such it aims to offer a self conscious examination of literature and the discipline of literary studies considering the ability of both to interrogate and explore the legacies of political and civil conflict around the world The book focuses on the experience of post Apartheid South Africa post Troubles Northern Ireland and post dictatorship Latin America The recent history of these regions and in particular their acute experience of ethno religious and civil conflict make them highly productive contexts in which to begin examining the role of literature in the aftermath of social trauma Rather than a definitive account of the subject the collection defines a new field for literary studies and opens it up to scholars working in other regional and national contexts To this end the book includes essays on post 1989 Germany post 9/11 United States the Israeli Palestinian conflict Sierra Leone and narratives of asylum seeker refugee communities This volume's comparative frame draws on well established precedents for thinking about the cultural politics of these regions making it a valuable resource for scholars of Comparative Literature Peace and Conflicts Studies Human Rights Transitional Justice and the Politics of Literature

Come Weep With Me Joyce C. Harte, 2021-02-19
This groundbreaking anthology represents the critical inquiry of literary scholars into the trope of loss and mourning in the work of women writers from the Caribbean archipelago There is a great deal of recent scholarly interest in the relationship of loss and mourning yet there are no books specifically devoted to an examination of this trope in the works of Caribbean women writers To fill this gap this collection of original essays examines subjects that encompass the brutality of slavery oppressive dictatorships AIDS and the catastrophe of the Mount Pele volcano that appear in the writings of women from the English Spanish and French speaking Caribbean It is an important addition to the contemporary discourse on loss and mourning The project is an exciting and vital one because it brings together a multiplicity of perspectives and critical approaches to examine the works of writers such as Jean Rhys Jamaica Kincaid Julia Alvarez and Maryse Condé What emerges is a complex portrait of loss mourning and remembrance that both enriches and challenges customary discourses of loss mourning and melancholia

Offshoot Donna Lee Brien, Quinn Eades, 2018

Offshoot includes essays in life writing methodologies and approaches as well as a series of creative work poetry and prose that engages with current life writing This collection highlights the development and influence of the genre in the twenty first century Starting from the premise that life writing is a significant component of both contemporary artistic practice and scholarship Offshoot provides a necessary re evaluation of the mode its contemporary sub generic incarnations as well as methodological and practical approaches The book presents research on a wide range of approaches including both traditional areas such as literature and creative writing and areas that have not previously been associated with life writing scholarship With its multifaceted readings Offshoot signals a shift in life writing research tending towards an expansive hybrid experimental and rhizomic approach

Travel Narrative and the Ends of Modernity Stacy Burton, 2014 Combining theoretical arguments with close reading this text traces how twentieth century writers have reinvented travel narrative for new purposes

Women Writing Intimacy and Resistance Valérie Baisnée-Keay, Corinne Bigot, Nicoleta Alexoae-Zagni, Nathalie Saudo-Welby, Stephanie Genty, 2025-05-27 This collection explores how women writers in the English speaking world transform personal intimacy into political engagement challenging cultural oppression across genres life writing novels poetry and theatre from the 19th century to today Guided by the feminist slogan the personal is political it bridges feminist decolonial ethnic and queer studies revealing how gender based domination intersects with other forms of oppression The authors highlight how these writers across various forms of expression imagine new modes of resistance and carve out space for social change

Human Rights in the Americas María Herrera-Sobek, Francisco Lomelí, Luz Angélica Kirschner, 2021-02-25 This interdisciplinary book explores human rights in the Americas from multiple perspectives and fields Taking 1492 as a point of departure the text explores Eurocentric historiographies of human rights and offer a more complete understanding of the genealogy of the human rights discourse and its many manifestations in the Americas. The essays use a variety of approaches to reveal the larger contexts from which they emerge, providing a cross-sectional view of subjects, countries, methodologies, and foci explicitly dedicated toward understanding historical factors and circumstances that have shaped human rights nationally and internationally within the Americas. The chapters explore diverse cultural, philosophical, political, and literary expressions where human rights discourses circulate across the continent, taking into consideration issues such as race, class, gender, genealogy, and nationality. While acknowledging the ongoing centrality of the nation, the volume promotes a shift in the study of the Americas as a dynamic transnational space of conflict, domination, resistance, negotiation, complicity, accommodation, dialogue, and solidarity, where individuals, nations, peoples, institutions, and intellectual and political movements share struggles, experiences, and imaginaries. It will be of interest to all scholars and students of InterAmerican studies and those from all disciplines interested in Human Rights.

Teaching African American Women's Writing G. Wisker, 2010-09-29 The essays in Teaching African American Women's Writing provide reflections on issues, problems, and pleasures raised by studying the texts. They will be of use to those teaching and studying African American women's writing in colleges, universities, and adult education groups, as well as teachers involved in teaching in schools to A level.

Begin Here Rocio G. Davis, 2007-01-31 An analytically innovative work, Begin Here widens the current critical focus of Asian North American literary studies by proposing an integrated thematic and narratological approach to the practice of autobiography. It demonstrates how Asian North American memoirs of childhood challenge the construction and performative potential of national experiences. This understanding influences theoretical approaches to ethnic life writing, expanding the boundaries of traditional autobiography by negotiating narrative techniques and genre, and raising complex questions about self-representation and the construction of cultural memory. By examining the artistic project of some fifty Asian North American writers who deploy their childhood narratives in the representation of the individual processes of self-identification and negotiation of cultural and national affiliation, this work provides a comprehensive overview of Asian North American autobiographies of childhood published over the last century. Importantly, it also attends to new ways of writing autobiographies, employing comics, blending verse, prose, diaries, and life writing for children, and using relational approaches to self-identification among others.

Iranian Women in the Memoir Emira Derbel, 2017-05-11 This book investigates the various reasons behind the elevation of the memoir, previously categorized as a marginalized form of life writing, that denudes the private space of women, especially in Western Asian countries such as Iran. Through a comparative investigation of Azar Nafisi's Reading Lolita in Tehran and Marjane Satrapi's Persepolis 1 and 2, the book examines the way both narrative and graphic memoirs offer possibilities for Iranian women to reclaim new territory, transgress a post-traumatic revolution, and reconstruct a new model of womanhood that evades socio-political and religious restrictions. Exile is conceptualized as empowering rather than a continued status of loss and disillusionment and the liminality of both women writers turns into a space of artistic production The book also resists the New Orientalist scope within which Reading Lolita in Tehran more than Persepolis has been misread In order to reject these allegations this work sheds light on the representation of Iranian women in Reading Lolita in Tehran not as weak victims held captive by a totalitarian version of Islam but as active participants rewriting their stories through the liberating power of the memoir The comparative approach between narrative and comic memoirs is a fruitful way of displaying similar experiences of disillusionment loss return and exile through different techniques The common thread uniting both memoirs is their zeal to reclaim Iranian women's agency and strength over subservience and passivity

In the Presence of Audience Deborah Martinson, 2003 Martinson examines the diaries of Virginia Woolf Katherine Mansfield Violet Hunt and Doris Lessing's fictional character Anna Wulf She argues that these diaries and others like them are not entirely private writings but that their authors wrote them knowing they would be read She argues that the audience is the author's male lover or husband and describes how knowledge of this audience affects the language and content in each diary She argues that this audience enforces a certain male censorship which changes the shape of the revelations and of the writer herself

Bending Genre Margot Singer, Nicole Walker, 2013-03-14 Ever since the term creative nonfiction first came into widespread use memoirists and journalists essayists and fiction writers have faced off over where the border between fact and fiction lies This debate over ethics however has sidelined important questions of literary form Bending Genre does not ask where the boundaries between genres should be drawn but what happens when you push the line Written for writers and students of creative writing this collection brings together perspectives from today's leading writers of creative nonfiction including Michael Martone Brenda Miller Ander Monson and David Shields Each writer's innovative essay probes our notions of genre and investigates how creative nonfiction is shaped modeling the forms of writing being discussed Like creative nonfiction itself Bending Genre is an exciting hybrid that breaks new ground
