Slave Women In The New World Gender Stratification In The Caribbean:

Slave Women in the New World Marietta Morrissey, 2021-10-08 In this innovative study Marietta Morrissey reframes the debate over slavery in the New World by focusing on the experiences of slave women Rich in detail and rigorously comparative her work illuminates the exploitation achievements and resilience of slave women in the British Dutch French Spanish and Danish colonies in the Caribbean from 1600 through the mid 1800s Morrissey examines a wide spectrum of experience among Caribbean slave women including their work at home in the fields and as domestics their roles as wives and mothers their health sexuality and fertility and their decline in status with the advent of industrialization and the abolition of slavery Life for these women Morrissey shows was much more hazardous brutal and fragmented than it was for their counterparts in the American South These women were in a constant dynamic struggle with men both masters and fellow slaves over the foundations of their social experience This experience was defined both by their status as slaves and by gender inequality On the one hand their slave status gradually robbed them of their domain the household economy and created a kind of perverse equality in which slave women like slave men became units of agricultural labor One the other hand slave women were denied the access that slave men eventually gained to skilled agricultural work The result of this gender inequality as Morrissey convincingly demonstrates was a further erosion of the status and authority of slave women within their own culture Morrissey s study which addresses significant issues in women s history and black history will go far toward reshaping our perceptions of slave life in the new world Slave Women in the New World Marietta Morrissey, 1989

Women and Slavery in the French Antilles, 1635-1848 Bernard Moitt, 2001-11-14 Women and Slavery in the French Antilles 1635 1848 Bernard Moitt Examines the reaction of black women to slavery In Women and Slavery in the French Antilles 1635 1848 Bernard Moitt argues that gender had a profound effect on the slave plantation system in the French Antilles He details and analyzes the social condition of enslaved black women in the plantation societies of Martinique Guadeloupe Saint Domingue now Haiti and French Guiana from 1635 to the abolition of slavery in the French colonial empire in 1848 Moitt examines the lives of black women in bondage evaluates the impact that the slave experience had on them and assesses the ways in which women reacted to and coped with slavery in the French Caribbean for over two centuries As males outnumbered females for most of the slavery period and monopolized virtually all of the specialized tasks the disregard for gender in task allocation meant that females did proportionately more hard labor than did males In addition to hard work in the fields women were engaged in gender specific labor and performed a host of other tasks Women resisted slavery in the same ways that men did as well as in ways that gender and allocation of tasks made possible Moitt casts slave women in dynamic roles previously ignored by historians thus bringing them out of the shadows of the plantation world into full view where they belong Bernard Moitt is Assistant Professor in the History Department at Virginia Commonwealth University in Richmond Previously he taught at the University of Toronto and at Utica College of Syracuse University Educated in Antigua where he was born Canada and the United States he has written on aspects of francophone African and Caribbean history with particular emphasis on gender and slavery Blacks in the Diaspora Darlene Clark Hine John McCluskey Jr David Barry Gaspar general editors June 2001 256 pages 6 1 8 x 9 1 4 index append cloth0 253 33913 8 44 95 L 34 00 paper0 253 21452 1 19 95 s 15 50

Rethinking Slave Rebellion in Cuba Aisha K. Finch, 2015-05-21 Envisioning La Escalera an underground rebel movement largely composed of Africans living on farms and plantations in rural western Cuba in the larger context of the long emancipation struggle in Cuba Aisha Finch demonstrates how organized slave resistance became critical to the unraveling not only of slavery but also of colonial systems of power during the nineteenth century While the discovery of La Escalera unleashed a reign of terror by the Spanish colonial powers in which hundreds of enslaved people were tortured tried and executed Finch revises historiographical conceptions of the movement as a fiction conveniently invented by the Spanish government in order to target anticolonial activities Connecting the political agitation stirred up by free people of color in the urban centers to the slave rebellions that rocked the countryside Finch shows how the rural plantation was connected to a much larger conspiratorial world outside the agrarian sector While acknowledging the role of foreign abolitionists and white creoles in the broader history of emancipation Finch teases apart the organization leadership and effectiveness of the black insurgents in midcentury dissident mobilizations that emerged across western Cuba presenting compelling evidence that black women played a particularly critical role Free at Last? Reflections on Freedom and the Abolition of the British Transatlantic Slave Trade Cecily Jones,Amar Nahab,2011-05-25 The global commemorative events of 2007 that marked the bicentennial anniversary of the parliamentary abolition of the African slave trade provided opportunity for widespread discussion between politicians community groups museums and heritage organisations the clergy and scholars as to the meanings of colonial and post colonial freedom As was evident from the tensions emerging from those debates the subject of the transatlantic slave trade and slavery remains highly charged as does the extent to which its legacy of racism predicated on theoretical assumptions of European cultural social political and economic superiority continues to maintain and reproduce complex systems of inequalities between peoples and societies Free at Last is an edited collection of interdisciplinary perspectives that critically reflects on the struggles of enslaved peoples and anti slavery activists to effect the abolition of the British slave trade as well as the post abolition global legacies of those diverse struggles for equality The chapters bring together multiple narratives and discourses about the British abolition to reflect critically and comparatively on the boundaries between slavery and freedom the contestations and championing of freedom and the legacies of slavery and abolition in the contemporary context Women and Slavery: The modern Atlantic Gwyn Campbell,Suzanne Miers,Joseph Calder Miller,2007 The particular experience of enslaved women across different cultures and many different eras is the focus of this work
