Sleds On Boston Common A Story From The American Revolution:

Sleds on Boston Common Louise Borden,2000-09-01 Times were hard for the people of colonial Boston in the winter of 1774 Not only had King George III of England closed the Boston harbor to punish all those who spoke against his harsh laws he had sent thousands of soldiers led by their commander in chief General Thomas Gage to reinforce his edicts Large numbers of British soldiers were encamped on the Boston Common preventing the people of Boston from using their own public space But at least the king had not closed the schools young Henry Price and his two brothers still had classes every day It had snowed hard for three nights but Henry s ninth birthday was clear perfect for sled riding To his delight despite the hard times he was given a beautiful new sled made by his father Excited by the thought of sledding on the Common which had the best hills in Boston Henry and his brothers took their sleds to school Their sister Kate met them at lunchtime with corn bread apple jam and her own sled Together they hurried to the Common only to find that British troops had put their tents and cooking fires right in the middle of the sled runs But Henry was determined to try his new sled Could he find a way Based on the local lore of Boston this tale of a courageous boy gives a rich picture of colonial life at a troubled time
