grounds A total of 114 U S and 21 Canadian localities of special importance to birds migrating within the Central Flyway are identified and described in detail Judging from available regional state and local information nearly 400 species of 50 avian families regularly use the Central Flyway during their migrations Nearly 90 Central Flyway species have wintering areas partly extending variably far into the Neotropic zoogeographic realm and at least 50 of these winter entirely within the Neotropic realm A few of these species undertake some of the longest known migrations of all birds in excess of 8 000 miles in each direction Seven maps 49 figures and over 100 literature citations are included Abstract Ancient Architecture of the Southwest William N. Morgan, 1994-01-01 During more than a thousand years before Europeans arrived in 1540 the native peoples of what is now the southwestern United States and northern Mexico developed an architecture of rich diversity and beauty Vestiges of thousands of these dwellings and villages still remain in locations ranging from Colorado in the north to Chihuahua in the south and from Nevada in the west to eastern New Mexico This study presents the most comprehensive architectural survey of the region currently available Organized in five chronological sections that include 132 professionally rendered site drawings the book examines architectural evolution from humble pit houses to sophisticated multistory pueblos The sections explore concurrent Mogollon Hohokam and Anasazi developments as well as those in the Salado Sinagua Virgin River Kayenta and other areas and compare their architecture to contemporary developments in parts of eastern North America and Mesoamerica The book concludes with a discussion of changes in Native American architecture in response to European influences
