Temple In The House Finding The Sacred In Everyday Architecture:

The Temple in the House Anthony Lawlor, 1994 Illustrated with more than 175 photos and renderings this book shows how the spaces we inhabit from our public streets to our homes can transform us An award winning architect identifies the fundamental design forms that have evoked a spiritual response throughout time and relates these patterns to the elemental patterns of human awareness Each chapter offers exercises and practical suggestions An Ethnography of the

Goodman Building Niccolo Caldararo, 2019-04-25 An Ethnography of the Goodman Building vividly incorporates a wide variety of methods to tell the story of class struggle in a building neighborhood and city that is replicated globally I read it as a number of boxes inside each other opened in the course of reading Caldararo recounts the building s personal biography to convey not only the facts about but the feelings about the flesh and blood of the building and its surrounding neighborhood Jerome Krase Brooklyn College of The City University of New York USA This unique contribution to the field of urban and regional studies counteracts current trends in the ethnographies of urban movements by offering with great hindsight an analysis from a physical space and from first hand experience The focal point is one building and the author is a former tenant This perspective is appealing especially in an era of global connections where macro social movements are on the front line of urban life and research Nathalie Boucher Director and Researcher Respire and Affiliated Professor Assistant Department of Sociology and Anthropology Concordia University Canada Through in depth analysis and narrative investigation of an actual building occupation Niccolo Caldararo seeks to not only offer an historical account of the Goodman Building in San Francisco but also focus on the active resistance tactics of its residents from the 1960s to the 1980s Taking as its focal point the building itself the volume weaves in and out of every life involved and the struggles that surround it San Francisco s urban renewal ethnic clearing gentrification and municipal governance at a time of booming urban growth Caldararo a tenant at the center of its strikes and activities provides a unique perspective that counteracts current trends in ethnographies of urban movements by grounding its analysis in physical and tangible space The Renaissance Reader

Kinitra D. Brooks, Nicholas R. Jones, 2025-12-12 The Renaissance Reader Beyonc and Black Queer Popular Culture offers a groundbreaking exploration of Beyonc s acclaimed album Renaissance examining its celebration of Black queer aesthetics through disco house and bounce music Building on the success of The Lemonade Reader this interdisciplinary collection brings together popular culture writers and scholars to analyse the album s profound impact on contemporary culture and artistic expression Through the lens of Black feminist and queer theory contributors examine how Renaissance engages with and reimagines African American musical traditions while centring Black women s experiences and queer aesthetics This timely volume tackles crucial questions about Beyonc s evolving artistry celebrity and cultural impact while exploring how her work intersects with contemporary Black feminist and queer theoretical methodologies The Renaissance Reader Beyonc and Black Queer Popular Culture is an essential text for scholars and students in Black women s studies queer studies and

The Green Imperative: Ecology and Ethics in Design and Architecture Victor Papanek, 2002-02-01 A fresh edition of the sustainable design pioneer Victor Papanek's classic and ever relevant book examining the important role of design in combating climate change. Whether it's horror at the plastic littering the world's beaches or despair at the melting polar ice caps, the world is gradually waking up to the impending climate disaster. In The Green Imperative, Papanek argues for design that addresses these issues head-on. This means using materials that can be recycled and reused, no more pointless packaging, thinking about how products make us feel and engage all our senses, putting nature at the heart of design, working at a smaller scale, rejecting aesthetics for their own sake, and thinking before we buy. First published at the end of the twentieth century, this book offered a plethora of honest advice, clear examples, and withering critiques, laying out the flaws and opportunities for the design world at that time. A quarter of a century on, Papanek's lucid prose has lost none of its verve, and the problems he highlights have only become more urgent, giving today's reader both a fascinating historical perspective on the issues at hand and a blueprint for how they might be solved.

Cultivating Sacred Space Elizabeth Murray, 1997 Linda Greenlaw hadn't been blue water fishing for ten years since the great events chronicled in The Perfect Storm and The Hungry Ocean when an old friend offered her the captaincy on his boat, Seahawk, for a season of swordfishing. She took the bait, of course, and thus opened a new chapter in a life that had already seen enough adventure for three lifetimes. The Seahawk turns out to be the rustiest of buckets, with sprung, busted, and ancient equipment guaranteed to fail at any critical moment. Life is never dull out on the Grand Banks, and no one is better at capturing the flavor and details of the wild ride that is swordfishing from the technical complexities of longline fishing and the nuances of reading the weather and waves to the sheer beauty of the open water. The trip is full of surprises, a bit harder and saltier than I had hoped for, but none more unexpected than when the boat's lines inadvertently drift across the Canadian border and she lands in jail. Seaworthy is about nature, human, and other, about learning what you can control and what you do when fate takes matters out of your control. It's about how a middle-aged woman who sets a high bar for herself copes with challenge and change and frustration about the struggle to succeed or fail on your own terms and, above all, about learning how to find your true self when you're caught between land and sea.

God's House is Our House Richard S. Vosko, 2006 The liturgical reforms that have guided congregations over the last few decades have transformed what different denominations know about themselves and their worship. Worshipers are no longer spectators but active participants in the ritual acts that once were the possession of the clergy. As the liturgy is modified, church buildings are altered. How does all such change affect the architectural style of church buildings? Vosko provides a foundation for building or renovating a place of worship and presents a thorough checklist for spaces, art, furnishings, and appointments. He discusses many concerns and offers practical advice. He also presents issues that need further consideration in every project.
