The Radical Fiction of Ann Petry Keith Clark,2013-06-03 In his in depth analysis of the works of Ann Petry 1908 1997 Keith Clark moves beyond assessments of Petry as a major mid twentieth century African American author and the sole female member of the Wright School of Social Protest He focuses on her innovative approaches to gender performance sexuality and literary technique Engaging a variety of disciplinary frameworks including gothic criticism masculinity and gender studies queer theory and psychoanalytic theory Clark offers fresh readings of Petry s three novels and collection of short stories He explores for example Petry s use of terror in The Street where both blacks and whites appear physically and psychically monstrous He identifies the use of dark comedy and the macabre in the stories The Bones of Louella Brown and The Witness Petry s overlooked second novel Country Place set in a deceptively serene Connecticut hamlet camouflages a world as nightmarish as the Harlem of her previous work While confirming the black feminist dimensions of Petry s writing Clark also assesses the writer s representations of an array of black and white masculine behaviors some socially sanctioned others taboo in her unheralded masterpiece The Narrows and her widely anthologized short story Like a Winding Sheet Expansive in scope The Radical Fiction of Ann Petry analyzes Petry's unique concerns and agile techniques situating her among more celebrated male contemporary writers Outlook Alfred Emanuel Smith, Francis Walton, 1898 Devils' Spawn Charles Birkin, 2015-11-24 An important though neglected figure in twentieth century British horror fiction Sir Charles Birkin 1907-1985 began his literary career as editor of the popular and now highly collectible Creeps series of horror anthologies in the 1930s which featured tales by well known writers such as H R Wakefield Lord Dunsany and Russell Thorndike as well as contributions by Birkin himself A master of the conte cruel often with a Grand Guignol finish Birkin found true horror not in ghosts or the supernatural but in the hearts of men and women Never before reprinted and extremely scarce Devils' Spawn 1936 collects sixteen of Birkin's stories many of them first published in the Creeps volumes including the horror gems The Terror on Tobit and The Harlem Horror Birkin's collection The Smell of Evil 1965 is also available from Valancourt Books The Insider's Guide to Getting an Agent Lori Perkins, 1999 Includes information on finding and contacting an agent details of book deals dealing with agents and publishers etc New Outlook, 1915

Law and Art Oren Ben-Dor, 2012-03-29 The contributions to Law and Art address the interaction between law justice the ethical and the aesthetic Fearing the Dark Edmund G. Bansak, 2003-10-09 Cat People 1942 and I Walked with a Zombie 1943 established Val Lewton's hauntingly graceful style where suggestion was often used in place of explicit violence His stylish B thrillers were imitated by a generation of filmmakers such as Richard Wallace William Castle and even Walt Disney in his animated Adventures of Ichabod and Mr Toad 1949 Through interviews with many of Lewton's associates including his wife and son and extensive research his life and output are thoroughly examined Insurgent Empire Priyamvada Gopal, 2019-06-25 Much has been written on the how colonial subjects took up British and European ideas and turned them against empire when making claims to freedom and self determination The possibility of reverse influence has been largely overlooked Insurgent Empire shows how Britain's enslaved and colonial subjects were not merely victims of empire and subsequent beneficiaries of its crises of conscience but also agents whose resistance both contributed to their own liberation and shaped British ideas about freedom and who could be free Insurgent Empire examines dissent over the question of empire in Britain and shows how it was influenced by rebellions and resistance in the colonies from the West Indies and East Africa to Egypt and India It also shows how a pivotal role in fomenting dissent was played by anti colonial campaigners based in London at the heart of the empire Daydreaming and Fantasy (Psychology Revivals) Jerome L. Singer, 2014-06-17 Daydreaming our ability to give to airy nothing a local habitation and a name remains one of the least understood aspects of human behaviour As children we explore beyond the boundaries of our experience by projecting ourselves into the mysterious worlds outside our reach As adolescents and adults we transcend frustration by dreams of achievement or escape and use daydreaming as a way out of intolerable situations and to help survive boredom drudgery or routine In old age we turn back to happier memories as a relief from loneliness or frailty or wistfully daydream about what we would do if we had our time over again Why is it that we have the ability to alternate between fantasy and reality Is it possible to have ambition or the ability to experiment create or invent without the catalyst of fantasy Are sexual fantasies an inherent part of human behaviour Are they universal healthy destructive Is daydreaming itself destructive Or is it a force which facilitates change and which can even be harnessed to positive advantage In this provocative book originally published in 1975 the product of the previous twenty five years of research the author debates the nature and function of daydreaming in the light of his own experiments As well as investigating what is a normal fantasy life and outlining patterns and types of daydreaming he describes the role of daydreaming in schizophrenia and paranoia examines the fantasies and hallucinations induced by drugs and also the nature of altered states of consciousness in Zen and Transcendental Meditation Among the many topics covered he explains how it is possible to help children enlarge their capacity for fantasy how adults can make positive use of daydreaming and how people on the verge of disturbed behaviour are often unconscious of their own fantasies Advances in scientific methods and new experimental techniques had made it possible at this time to monitor both conscious daydreaming and sub conscious fantasies in a way not possible before Professor Singer is one of the few scientists who have conducted substantial research in this area and it is his belief that the study of daydreaming and fantasy is of great importance if we are to understand the workings of the human mind Aftermaths of War Ingrid Sharp,Matthew Stibbe,2011-02-14 This volume of essays provides the first major comparative study of the role played by women s movements and individual female activists in enabling or thwarting the transition from war to peace in Europe in the crucial years 1918 to 1923 Translating Pain Madelaine Hron,2010-10-23 In the post Cold War post 9 11 era the immigrant experience has changed dramatically Despite the recent successes of immigrant and world literatures there has been little scholarship on how the hardships of immigration are conveyed in immigrant narratives Translating Pain fills this gap by examining literature from Muslim North Africa the Caribbean and Eastern Europe to reveal the representation of immigrant suffering in fiction Applying immigrant psychology to literary analysis Madelaine Hron examines the ways in which different forms of physical and psychological pain are expressed in a wide variety of texts She juxtaposes post colonial and post communist concerns about immigration and contrasts Muslim world views with those of Caribbean creolite and post Cold War ethics Demonstrating how pain is translated into literature she explores the ways in which it also shapes narrative culture history and politics A compelling and accessible study Translating Pain is a groundbreaking work of literary and postcolonial studies
