The Illustrated Guide to Victorian Parian China Charles Shinn, Dorrie Shinn, 1971 The Melancholy Man John Lucas, 2016-07-22 First published in 1980 this book surveys Dickens growing power to drive deep into the causes of his contemporary conditions It reveals the importance of nature to Dickens as a rich metaphor of human freedom and potentiality and emphasises his concern with time and the problems of freedom The author considers the peculiarity of Dickens being unanimously acclaimed as a great writer considering the difficulty in placing him definitively within the literary tradition The author argues Dickens was an isolated figure indifferent to changing fashions and with a strong sense of the dignity of human nature and that this formed the basis of his character and writings Jewitt's Ceramic Art of Great Britain, 1800-1900 Llewellynn Frederick William Jewitt, Geoffrey A. Godden, 1972 Greece and Rome at the Crystal Palace Kate Nichols, 2015 The marble halls of the British Museum might seem the natural habitat for classical sculpture but in the nineteenth century its sombre displays were far from being the only place that people encountered antiquities From 1854 a rival collection of classical sculpture comprising plaster casts from major European museums and scaled down architectural features was on show in the South London suburb of Sydenham in the Crystal Palace which had housed the Great Exhibition of 1851 By the late 1850s two million visitors were passing through the glass doors of the Sydenham Crystal Palace each year more than twice as many as recorded at the British Museum Many more people and from a greater variety of social strata saw the painted cast of the Parthenon frieze in Sydenham than the original in Bloomsbury Utilizing an extensive variety of archival material including diaries scrapbooks and photographs Greece and Rome at the Crystal Palace evokes visitor experiences at Sydenham and examines the discussion that arose around the presentation of classical plaster casts to a mass audience It uncovers the social political and aesthetic role of ancient Greek and Roman sculpture in modern Britain assessing how classical art figured in debates over design reform taste beauty and morality class and gender and race and imperialism Godden's Guide to English Porcelain Geoffrey A.
